DID YOU SEE US ON THE INTERN LAST WEEK?

BIG HIT: Hilary Devey with The Interns John, Lizzie and Dan, and (above) gay icon Neil inspired me to go for it!

SUNDAY Sport

INSPIRING: Editor Nick and posh Isobel

INSPIRED: Student Sarah

A WOULD-BE reporter last night told how she was inspired by Sunday Sport's appearance on C4's The Intern – and next day landed a work experience role at her local paper.

Pretty Sarah White, 19, who is studying creative writing at Winchester University in Hants, joined millions watching the show on Thursday night.

Viewers saw wannabes Dan, Lizzie and John battle it out to win a job at Britain's brightest national newspaper.

In the end, it was 21-year-old politics graduate John who landed the post – and he's now part of the Sunday Sport family at our Manchester HQ.

But John wasn't the only winner thanks to The Intern, as second-year student Sarah told us. She said: "The show inspired me to be brave, have a bit of faith in myself and to just go for it!"

"I'd sent over my CV for work experience at my local paper but had heard nothing back. So I went into their offices and gave them a hard copy...40 minutes later I got an email being accepted for work experience as they admired my persistence!"

Sunday Sport's episode of The Intern was a smash – and even the snooty Daily Mail made us Pick Of The Day.

Thousands of viewers took to Twitter to sing the praises of our editor Nick, dishy reporter Isobel and hunky news editor Neil – who has won an army of gay fans thanks to the show!

Extra cops on streets for the City's big run

THE enhanced police presence for today's London Marathon will remain in place despite the death and capture of the Boston Marathon bombing suspects, Scotland Yard has said.

Security has been stepped up to reassure the 36,000 runners and tens of thousands of spectators in the wake of the atrocities which killed three people and injured 180 in the U.S. last Monday.

Several hundred more officers will still be out on London's streets – a 40% increase on last year.

A 30-second silence will be held as a mark of respect before the start of the men's elite race and mass start.

Virgin London Marathon has pledged to donate £2 for every finisher to a fund set up to raise money for victims of the bombs.

As nut is quizzed after dramatic capture...

WHAT DID FEDS KNOW ABOUT BOSTON BOMBERS?

ONE of the Boston bombings suspects was quizzed by the FBI two years ago about his links to extremists, Sunday Sport can reveal.

Tamerlan Tsarnaev – shot dead by cops on Friday – was interviewed in 2011 after a foreign government alerted officials that he had possible ties to terrorist organisations. Federal agents vetted Tsarnaev but their probe did not produce any "derogatory" information and the matter was put to bed.

It is the first indication that Tamerlan Tsarnaev and his younger brother, Dzhokhar, were known to U.S. security officials prior to last Monday's bombings.

The government that asked for the probe was not identified but security experts have speculated that Russia could have issued the request, based on fears that Tamerlan had links to Chechen extremists.

It's likely investigators performed a background check on Tamerlan and discussed his behaviour and international travel with other agencies. CBS News reported that officials would have called Tamerlan in for a sit-down interview and their findings would have been compiled into a report and sent to the requesting government. Federal authorities determined that there were no conclusive links between Tamerlan and any extremist groups.

Three died – including an eight-year-old boy – and more than 170 were hurt in last Monday's bombings.

Tamerlan, 26, and his 19-year-old brother, Dzhokhar were refugees from the Caucasus region.

Tamerlan was killed by police early on Friday morning in a shootout. Dzhokhar, was arrested early yesterday morning.

Their mother, Zubeidat Tsarnaeva, said the FBI had been monitoring her oldest son for being a "leader" in a religious politics movement.

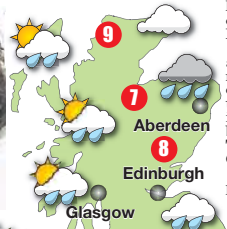

She claimed "he was controlled by the FBI for 3-5 years. They knew what my son was doing. They knew actions, and what websites he was using. They used to tell me they were controlling him, he was a serious leader and they were afraid of him."

Good luck to everyone running in the London Marathon today...

I'VE got to say I take my hat off to all those taking part in the London Marathon today (and my top!).

After the terrible events in Boston last week I'll have everything crossed that it all goes well and that all the runners and spectators have a wonderful, safe day.

Lots of my friends have wondered why I don't take up running and the truth is, I'd love to.

The problem is that even when I'm wearing a sports bra my boobs still tend to bounce around a lot!

Still, it couldn't be more uncomfortable than it is for all those runners in fancy dress raising money for good causes.

Good luck to them – and all of you!

Deep Throat star Manda's bikini horror

RED-FACED actress Amanda Seyfried has admitted her 'fanny stubble' embarrassment.

The busty beauty and star of new Deep Throat porn biopic Louelac says she doesn't like the red marks around her bikini line.

Gorgeous Amanda, 27, revealed: "I don't mind nude scenes. It's not about my body. It's not about me. You're playing somebody else."

"You're not going to believe a love scene if the people are dressed."

"You're not going to believe a stripper who has on a bra and underwear the whole time."

"At the same time, it has to do with how comfortable you are with letting people see your skin. For me, I'm OK with it."

"Yes, I have parts of my body that I don't necessarily love. Like I have red bumps around my bikini line."

"But it doesn't matter, at the end of the day."

Kelly tells of shock at Juice dildo

SEXY Celebrity Juice babe Kelly Brook has spoken of her DILDO surprise on the ITV2 show.

The team captain – standing in for Fearne Cotton while she's on maternity leave – almost had a rubber phallus shoved in her mouth during the first episode of the current series.

Kelly and regular opposing captain Holly Willoughby were playing a blindfold game called Retrieve the Straw, where they had to get hold of a straw using their tongues.

But once blindfolded, host Keith Lemon – aka comic Leigh Francis – replaced it with the huge dildo, which he waggled around the girls' mouths.

Kelly, 33, said: "That was mortifying when I watched it back. I thought I knew what Keith was doing – moving our drink around so Holly and I would accidentally kiss."

"Little did I know that he'd put a giant rubber dildo an inch from my mouth!"

Youth crime girl visited by terrorist police unit

A FORMER youth police and crime commissioner has been interviewed under caution by a SPECIAL BRANCH officer over comments she made on Twitter.

Paris Brown, 17, who quit the £15,000-a-year post on April 9, is being investigated over tweets which could be considered racist and homophobic.

Special Branch officers are normally tasked to tackle terrorists, political subversives or other "enemies of the State".

Her lawyers have complained to Kent Chief Constable Ian Learmonth that the investigation is "disproportionate".

Kent Police said it had received more than 50 complaints from the public and was trying to establish whether any criminal offences had been committed.

In their letter, Miss Brown's lawyers said they were "very concerned" she was visited at home by two officers, one from Kent Special Branch, on April 11.

Miss Brown was appointed when she was still 16, by Kent's Police and Crime Commissioner to represent youngsters.

It was later reported Ms Brown had boasted about her sex life, drug-taking and drinking on her Twitter account and had also posted violent, racist and anti-gay comments.

113 killed in major quake

A POWERFUL earthquake has struck the steep hills of China's south-western Sichuan province, leaving at least 113 people dead and more than 2,600 hurt.

The quake toppled buildings, triggered landslides and disrupted power connections in the mountainous Lushan area.

The village of Longmen was hit particularly hard, with authorities saying nearly all the buildings had been destroyed and state television showing footage of soldiers digging through rubble.

Rescuers turned the square outside the Lushan County Hospital into a triage centre, where medical personnel bandaged bleeding victims, according to footage on China Central Television.

Rescuers dynamited boulders that had fallen across roads to reach Longmen and other damaged areas lying farther up the mountain valleys, state media reported.

The local government said in a statement that more than 330 of the injured were severely hurt.

SCUMBAG'S PLOT 'MAGGIE' SEX MOVIE

Vile scam exposed days after late PM's funeral

HOODY HELL:
Scammer 'Larry' saw his sick plan to cash in on Thatcher's death backfire

AN X-RATED 'homemade sex tape' said to show a young Margaret Thatcher in explicit action is nothing but a cruel FAKE, we can sensationally reveal.

Last week, our newsdesk was startled to take a call from a history buff claiming to have unearthed never-seen-before footage of Maggie romping with a mystery man.

The approach came just HOURS after the Iron Lady's emotional funeral at London's St Paul's Cathedral, in which Chancellor George Osborne was seen blubbing like a knackered tap.

But the so-called "footage" was nothing of the kind – and we soon saw through a classic SCAM.

Upon closer inspection, the video instead shows a Margaret Thatcher porn parody, called The Iron Ladygarden, and starring adult actress Rebecca More.

The bongo actress playing the politically-divisive figure takes it

By NEIL GOODWIN

And in scenes sure to make any Tory BLUE with rage, Rebecca even takes it up her MINER'S TUNNEL in taboo back-door bum romps.

One senior source within the Conservative Party blustered: "To say this is grossly and indecently offensive is an understatement."

"What vile human being would try and pass this off as genuine Lady Thatcher footage?"

Scoop

That person in question was a chap who called himself 'Larry', and who agreed to meet a reporter and one of our photographers at a Little Chef on the A55 near Mold, North Wales.

Builder Larry handed us a DVD, telling us he'd transferred the footage from an old Super 8 film that he'd miraculously discovered hidden in an attic in June last year.

Scammer 'Larry' was demanding ONE MILLION POUNDS for the story, branding it the 'scoop of the century'.

But our seasoned hacks, who double as experts in porn, quickly smelt a rat.

And when they confronted the smut-peddler with his evil lies, Larry even tried to LASH OUT at our snapper while ranting: "Just give me 50 quid for it then."

It's not clear if Larry has been touting his bogus wares around other news outlets – but we're certain he won't receive a penny for his efforts.

We contacted the bongo flick's star, stunning Rebecca, 32, to clear up the matter.

The gorgeous jazz movie beauty, from Bayswater, central London, said: "I had such a fabulous time playing 'Aggie Snatcher'. It is quite a controversial part to play in a porno, and I understand why some people would be offended, but I knew it was a role that I really wanted."

Rebecca, a palm-stretching 35F, filmed her steamy scenes at swanky 33 Portland Place in central London – in the same rooms used by Colin Firth in Oscar-winning blockbuster The King's Speech.

In the film, 'Aggie' is seen reading from her diary, saying: "One's life has been a series of sexual encounters – dominating men who are weak to my advances."

And it even riffs on Lady Thatcher's infamous 1990 speech in Parliament, when she shouted "No, no, no!" to calls to hand over power to Europe.

Aggie says: "To every man I learned to say, 'Yes, yes, yes!'"

And Rebecca says she's got nothing but PRAISE for our former Prime Minister, who died aged 87 on April 8.

Offensive

She added: "Margaret was an iconic and decisive woman, a real heroine of the modern age."

"I feel honoured to have been able to step into her shoes."

"It was fun playing Aggie Snatcher and I'll always remember it."

An official spokesman for the Tories said they would not be able to comment on the "highly offensive" material.

And a spokesman for the Margaret Thatcher Foundation was also too irate to respond to our enquiries.

Thatcher, who was Prime Minister from 1979 until 1990, was famously shafted by Cabinet colleagues after winning THREE elections.

UKIP's new poster babe gets horn!

AND who said politics was dull?

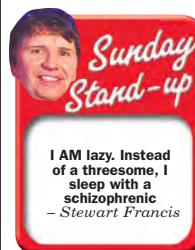

Gorgeous UKIP activist Alexandra Swann almost made members lose their deposits when she waved the flag for the anti-EU party yesterday.

Alexandra, who quit the Tories for UKIP last year, erected a four-foot-square UKIP poster outside Farnham railway station in Surrey.

And within minutes, the residents of the posh commuter town – staunch Tories for generations – were happy to lap up the 24-year-old's way of canvassing.

She tweeted yesterday evening: "Someone has already peeped their horn and given thumbs up and it's only been up 5 mins."

But one onlooker harrumphed: "Well, that sort of thing certainly didn't persuade me. But I read The Guardian."

Mum and girl's 'Shining' ordeal

A TERRIFIED mum and her child were put through a horror ordeal "like something out of The Shining", a court heard.

Jessica Guyton, 26, and her three-year-old girl were left cowering in fear like the mum in the 1980 Jack Nicholson film.

A court heard Paul Grey, 34, smashed through the door of her home using a hammer, threatening to kill them both – similar to the 'Here's Johnny' scene from the classic Stanley Kubrick movie.

Judge Paul Thomas said: "It must have looked like something out of movie The Shining."

The offender had gone to Miss Guyton's house and tried to break in to look for her boyfriend.

Grey, of Swansea, South Wales, was jailed for 12 months at the city's crown court.

Fans fret at news Corrie 'Chelle's off

CORRIE fans were being comforted last night after it emerged cobbles cutie Michelle Keegan is LEAVING the Weatherfield soap next year.

BRITAIN's compensation culture has made us the "whiplash capital of Europe", with twice as many claims as France, Spain and the Netherlands.

Eight out of ten UK personal injury claims following road accidents are for neck injuries - making it the "fraud of choice" for many.

The situation now costs the insurance industry more than £2.2billion a year and adds £90 to the average premium.

The figures, from the Association of British Insurers, compare to 68 per cent in Italy, 61 per cent in Sweden, 35 per cent in the Netherlands, 31 per cent in Spain and 30 per cent in France.

TOO FAT TO FIDDLE!

By SIMON DEAN

simon@sundaysport.co.uk

A SEX-STARVED 35-stone gutbucket has BLASTED Chancellor George Osborne for weeping at Baroness Thatcher's funeral.

For she says HER plight is more deserving of tears.

Fiona Tomlinson, 20, is hopping mad because she's been told social services WON'T pay for a male carer to diddle her cavernous clout.

And she blames what she calls "savage Tory-led cuts" for the bar on State-sponsored minge-meddling.

Fiona, from Crewe, Cheshire, stormed: "Due to my dietary issues I've put on a bit of weight."

Right

"That unfortunately means I can't reach my mimsy."

"It is my human right to enjoy a life like anyone else, and that means the odd fiddle with the private area."

"If I can't reach myself, then the government should pay someone to come and do it for me."

"Ideally, I'd like someone hunky, like what you'd see in Heat magazine or on Jeremy Kyle."

"But anyone would do - I just want my clacker thrapped."

"But because of the Tory-led cuts, I'm told that is impossible! I've effectively been banned from sexual activity."

"I blame George Osborne."

Fiona says she started piling on the pounds two years ago, having maintained a relatively-svelte 18-stone weight throughout most of her teenage years.

She said: "Once I left college and realised that, because of the Tories I would not get a job, I began comfort eating."

"The more I thought about how the Tories were making the rich richer and the poor poorer, the more I ate."

"It was a vicious circle created by the Tories' casino economy and their pals in the banking industry. Probably."

She added: "That, and me glands."

FLABbergasted Fiona concluded: "Osborne should be weeping for people on benefits, like ME - not for his dead Tory pals."

A source at Cheshire County Council social services department said it would be "unlikely" that the local authority would pay for Fiona's

"Attending to some fat bird's pissparts is simply not a high priority to us at this present time, going forwards."

AFGHANISTAN: HAS ANYTHING REALLY CHANGED?THE GOOD NEWS*AFGHAN FARMERS CELEBRATE RECORD HARVEST

CROP OF THE POPS: Police destroy poppies in Afghanistan

THE BAD NEWSTHE BUMPER CROP IS OPIUM POPPIES

IN December 2001, just months after the US-led invasion of Afghanistan, the United Nations appointed Britain to lead the efforts to curb the production of opium poppies in Afghanistan.

Sap from poppies is the raw material for making heroin and 90 per cent of the killer drug comes from Afghanistan.

Today, more than 10 years down the line – and with £290million of British taxpayers' money spent on the poppy eradication programme – what has actually been achieved?

Well, last week the UN reported that this year's Afghan poppy harvest is going to beat all records.

Every bit of that harvest will

By JESSICA HAWORTH
jessica@sundaysport.co.uk

contribute to the epidemic of drug abuse sweeping the West. And profits from the harvest will go straight to the coffers of the Taliban – arming them to fight NATO forces and funding a possible takeover of Afghanistan when coalition forces leave next year.

Earlier this year, when I visited British troops in Camp Bastion, Helmand, the consensus was that heroin farming was being tackled.

The military personnel I spoke to talked of gaining control over areas once infamous for their mass farming of the poppy plant.

But as the allies pull out, the poppy fields are blooming again.

The UN findings show the biggest rise in production has

CASH INJECTION: Most of the world's heroin comes from these Afghan fields taken place in regions from which the International Security Assistance Force has pulled out.

Despite Britain's efforts to cull the market just 14 of the country's 34 provinces are now 'poppy free' – down from 20 in 2010.

Opium traders provide seeds, fertilisers and even advance cash to entice farmers without western or government help into planting crops.

Taliban

This year, the price of opium is expected to range from $160 (£105) to $200 (£130) a kilogram to traders across Afghanistan.

The exact figure for the volume of poppies in Afghanistan this year is still unclear, but the UN indicates it will surpass the 154,000 hectares planted in 2012, compared to 131,000 hectares in 2011.

Western officials say the Afghan National Army will be responsible for destroying the poppy fields when the allies pull out.

But we have already seen the Afghan armed forces are corrupt from top to bottom and with the vast sums of money involved in the opium/heroin trade, buying the co-operation of dirt-poor Afghan soldiers is hardly a problem for the drug dealers.

When the US, Britain and their allies pull out of Afghanistan it looks increasingly likely that the Taliban will surge into the vacuum.

And the opium poppies will pay the fare for the trip right back to square one.

SUNDAY Sport SAYS...

OUR armed forces have served with dedication and valour fighting the Taliban in Afghanistan.

But without the muscle of the world's free nations to impose decency, it will revert to the hellish cesspit it was before our fighting men and women went in. The slide back to growing the opium poppy is just one symptom of how nothing has changed.

Talk of "reforming" and "rebuilding" Afghanistan allowed politicians in the West to pretend they were doing good in Afghanistan.

They were just being gung-ho with other people's sons and daughters.

BRITAIN'S GOT FAKERS!

ALESHA'S GOT TALENTS TOO... But this saucy snap is in fact a sick phoney

Now internet fiends target judge Alesha

STUNNING Britain's Got Talent judge Alesha Dixon joins the ranks of female celebrities who take naked snaps of themselves in the bathroom mirror...

Except Sunday Sport can reveal that in fact this image is entirely FAKE – and merely the work of sick internet pranksters.

Evil wrongdoers have expertly segued a picture of the former Mis-teeq singer onto a picture of a girl snapping herself in the nude with her mobile phone.

The idea is make Alesha, 34, appear to be in tune with the likes of saucy popster Rihanna and actress Scarlett Johansson, whose naughty bathroom pix were leaked onto the world wide web.

She joined the ITV1 show's judging panel last year from BBC rivals Strictly Come Dancing, where she had been appointed judge after winning the competition.

Painful

Last week viewers watched her wince as she put a staple gun to a contestant's FACE on spin-off show Britain's Got More Talent.

A judge was called up to assist magician Ryan Tricks in an act that could have had painful consequences.

After inviting her on stage and handing her a staple gun, Tricks asked her: "Have you heard of

By JUSTIN DUNN
justin@sundaysport.co.uk

Russian roulette? It would not be clever to use real guns – I use staple guns."

With Alesha's finger on the trigger, he attempted to influence her decision with his mind so he could avoid getting stabbed in the cheek.

Backstage, Tricks was starstruck by BGMT host Stephen Mulhern as he was given the Catchphrase presenter's magic kit from when he was a child.

The cruel internet fakers are unlikely to put a dampener on Alesha's mood, according to one production source.

"It's all a bit juvenile and I imagine she'd rise above it," he said. "She's a professional doing her job."

Here's the dick who had drugs tied to privates

THIS is the drug dealer jailed after cops caught him with 19 wraps of drugs tied to his COCK.

Alan Mutch was targeted by police after receiving reports of a man peddling drugs on January 14 this year.

When they pulled the 45-year-old over and searched him they discovered 19 wraps of cannabis – weighing more than an ounce – attached to his manhood with an elastic band.

Canterbury Crown Court was told that Mutch was hauled over at 9.40am by officers.

The prosecutor said: "They saw the defendant and conducted a search. Suffice to say that 19 wraps were found somewhere on his person."

When officers searched him further they found £670 in cash and two more bags containing 48 wraps of heroin.

Mutch, who is from Canterbury, Kent, was jailed for two-and-half years after admitting possession of the drugs with intent to supply.

He had been jailed for four years in 2010 for dealing drugs and had 'struggled' since his release, his defence claimed in court.

Shock as Gwyn grabs Mack's sac!

IRON Man 3 star Gwyneth Paltrow grappled funnyman Lee Mack's BALLS live on TV! She gave the Not Going Out star a cupping while the pair were being interviewed on The Graham Norton Show on BBC1 on Friday evening.

Gorgeous Gwyneth, 40, had been listening to comedian Lee talk about having problems

Gwyneth – married to Coldplay frontman Chris Martin, with whom she has two children –

Cupping either side of his balls, as the audience went wild, she laughingly declared: "Oh my God, man – it's true!"

Gwyneth and Mack, 44, were sharing Norton's couch with London Olympics distance running hero Mo Farah.

Swim woman makes waves over nudists in club pool

A FURIOUS swimmer is battling to cancel her health club membership – after she discovered the pool was used by NATURISTS.

Mum-of-three Aline Belisario says she was stunned to discover the pool, spa and sauna were used for nude sessions on Saturday evenings.

But bosses at the LA Fitness club insisted she'd signed a contract and couldn't cancel.

Ms Belisario said: "I was shocked and angry that I wasn't given this information when I joined the club."

"I requested to cancel my membership as I would rather not sit on the same sauna or spa where a naked person has been sitting."

Naturist Noah's Ark Swim and Sauna Club, which has about 60 members, dismissed her reaction, not least because they believe it is cleaner to swim naked.

Malcolm Beakhurst, press relations officer for the club said: "It's ridiculous because I doubt her swimming costume is as clean as people sitting on towels in the sauna or spa."

A spokeswoman at LA Fitness in Ewell, Surrey, said: "While she might feel a little squeamish, there is physically no reason to feel so."

Perv used his goggles for a cubicle peek

A CHAMPION swimmer spied on a woman using a pair of mirrored GOGGLES to peek under a changing room cubicle, a court heard.

James Mackay, 28, who has competed for Great Britain, angled them against a shampoo bottle so he could see into the next changing room.

JPs were told he spied on the same woman on three occasions at the Abbey Stadium, Redditch, Wores.

The woman told Redditch JPs that at first she thought she was being paranoid, but she later videoed the goggles.

Mackay told cops he had been performing stretching exercises but magistrates rejected his defence and found him guilty of observing a person doing a private act for sexual gratification.

Sentencing was adjourned for reports.

Bum spankers ride their luck

COPS are trying to get to the bottom of a series of bizarre Benny Hill-style sex attacks in which leering, cackling men in a car have smacked women riding bikes along the road.

They have received reports from three lady cyclists assaulted while riding in Barrow area of Cumbria.

BUSTY CHELSEA: HARRY HASN'T HAD HIS FINGERS IN MY BISCUIT BARREL!

By JUSTIN DUNN

justin@sundaysport.co.uk

A BUSTY stripper said to have romped with One Direction heart-throb Harry Styles, after performing a NAKED dance for him, has DENIED the claims.

A downmarket tabloid claimed Chelsea Ferguson told them she got "intimate" with the 1D singer after she gave him a one-man show at a club in Newcastle.

The One Thing performer, 19, was said to have met Chelsea, 25, after going to her club following a sell-out gig with his boyband mates in the city.

The failing rag – which has since DELETED its online story – said she spent the night partying with Harry – after her strip at Perdu in Newcastle.

The 34C stunna was quoted as saying: "I had done a striptease and showed my boobs. He walked up to me and said, 'Hi, I'm Harry. I have just done a gig in Newcastle.' I couldn't believe Harry Styles wanted to spend time with me."

"He said he'd never seen boobs like mine before and that he had been looking at them all night."

Watching

"We were in a quiet place in the club where no one was watching so we could be relaxed together."

But Sunday Sport can exclusively reveal she's DENIED the story.

Chelsea – currently on holiday with pals in Cancun, Mexico – described the article as "complete fabrication".

She tweeted: "What the fk?! The papers make their own version of events up... That whole story is bullsh*t and I certainly did not 'sell' it."

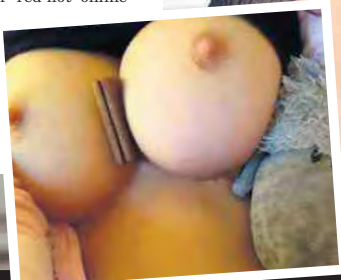

Harry split from American singer Taylor Swift at the beginning of this year and has been partying since.

Chelsea shot to fame when she agreed to post pictures of her boobs on Twitter if she got 1,000 followers.

She now has a whopping 376,990!

And some of her red-hot online photographs show the busty babe balancing a tasty BOURBON biscuit on her fabulous rack (right) while others show her with another of her favourite snacks – a classic Pot Noodle.

Ice cool Gerard looks like Butler wouldn't melt

MOVIE hunk Gerard Butler likes to keep his knackers on ICE.

He claims having chilly nuts – as opposed to chilli nuts! – is the perfect way to keep cool when working in a warm environment.

Butler, 43, stars in current thriller Olympus Has Fallen – about North Korean terrorists destroying the White House.

During a press conference to launch the film, Butler was asked how he coped working on hot, explosive movie sets.

He replied: "I put packs of ice down my underwear."

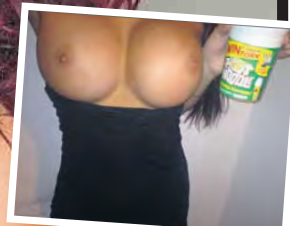

"I don't think it's good for the reproductive system but it cools down your whole body, and focuses the mind."

The Scots-born actor first shot to fame in the part-CGI ancient Greek blockbuster, 300.

Gerard has previously been linked to various leading Hollywood ladies, including former Friends star Jennifer Aniston.

Escaped owl a human threat

THE owner of a missing owl issued a warning that the bird might start attacking HUMANS.

Kate Harris, 31, lost her pet when he was spooked during an off-leash flying session, in a park in Harlow, Essex, on Tuesday.

Worried Kate said the owl, named Wicket, was not used to hunting in the wild and he might mistake people for FOOD, adding: "It's important people in the area are aware of him."

PEACHES GELDOF & THE POO-EATING DEVIL CULT

WILD-child Peaches Geldof is a fan of a bizarre cult whose leader was a devil-worshipping SEX ADDICT who ate his mistress' POO!

By NEIL GOODWIN
neil@sundaysport.co.uk

The gruesome scat revelation will leave a foul taste in the mouth of Peaches' grumpy dad Bob, who'll like it even less than he does Mondays.

Bob's 24-year-old daughter last week showed off a tattoo which read 'OTO' – which stands for Ordo Templi Orientis, or 'The Order of the Oriental Templars'.

The OTO is a sinister sect brought to Britain in the early 20th century by Aleister Crowley, a weirdo once dubbed the 'wickedest man in the world'.

Peaches has been urging her Twitter followers to read up about the Order, saying: 'I would buy Aleister Crowley's books on it, they're not expensive and super interesting x'.

But Warwickshire-born Crowley, who died in 1947, is famed for having called himself the Great Beast 666, had his teeth filed into fangs, was known to drink blood, and staged massive orgies fuelled by heroin and cocaine.

And we can also reveal he once chowed-down on his lady friend Leah Hirsig's festering turd.

Writing in The Book of Law he revealed: 'My mouth burned; my throat choked; my belly retched, my blood fled whither who knows, and my skin sweated.'

'She stood above me, hideous in contempt.'

Wrong 'un Crowley, who no doubt had breath fouler than an arthritic Labrador, also wrote openly about human sacrifice in Magick in Theory and Practice.

He penned: 'The bloody sacrifice, though more dangerous, is more efficacious; and for nearly all purposes human sacrifice is the best.'

A source close to aspiring telly host Peaches, said: 'She is fascinated by Aleister Crowley and wants to put the word out there. To her, Crowley is an enigmatic magician, not a sicko nut job.'

SHIT IDOL: Nutjob Crowley (below) has inspired Peaches to get a tattoo of the sinister sect

On benefits, so how come he's always drunk?

A JUDGE has questioned how a jobless man can afford to keep getting so drunk that he constantly commits offences of violence and disorder.

Christopher McGlynn, 30, was paralytically drunk last May when he smashed up a neighbour's car and screamed abuse at her – and again when he punched two men while armed with a hammer, Gloucester Crown Court was told.

Judge Jamie Tabor QC said: 'If he was unemployed and on benefits where did get the money from to drink himself into insensibility?'

McGlynn's solicitor said: 'He was in receipt of benefits. He was not working. He spent the money on drink rather than looking after himself in other ways.'

McGlynn, who was living in Winchcombe, Glos, at the time, admitted affray and two offences of ABH and was jailed for a total of 29 months.

CELEBS WHO'VE FALLEN FOR THE GREAT BEAST

TAYLOR MOMSEN

YANK starlet turned rock chick Taylor, of band The Pretty Reckless, has been spotted wearing a top with Crowley's face emblazoned across the front. Some would argue that the 19-year-old probably has no idea who he is. But devil worshipping is no doubt 'cool and edgy' in Hollywood circles.

SGT PEPPER

CROWLEY'S gurning mug even appears of the Beatles iconic album cover for 1967 record Sgt Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band. Some even suspect that Crowley is 'Sgt Pepper' himself. He's the bald fellow on the back row, second left. The reason? He was a 60s counter-culture favourite.

DAVID BOWIE

EVEN Bowie crooned about Crowley. In the tune Quicksand, which featured on his album Hunky Dory, he warbles: 'I'm closer to the Golden Dawn, immersed in Crowley's uniform of imagery'.

Claudia: My telly friends are 'morons'

OUTSPOKEN Claudia Winkelman has risked angering her BBC co-stars after branding them "MORONS".

The sultry star of Film 2013 reckons you barely need two brain cells to rub together to be a telly presenter.

Claudia, 41, spat: "TV presenting is genuinely moronic. You just need the ability to read out loud."

"My main job is being a mum – the rest is just to buy shoes."

"I'm sure there have been times when my parents were upset that they spent so much money on my education and I ended up doing something stupid like telly."

Strictly Come Dancing's Claudia, famed for her fringe haircut, has also revealed how she accidentally FLASHED at actress Jennifer Lawrence backstage at the BAFTA Awards earlier this year.

She said: "I run into the toilet, close the door, think I've locked it, and I pee. Jennifer comes in to the cubicle."

"I was doing up my outfit. I think I was slightly naked."

'Pub burglar' found drunk

A DRUNK woman was found sleeping off a bender in a pub she was arrested for burgling.

Cops nicked the 22-year-old after door panels were found to have been kicked in, and her behind the bar surrounded by smashed optics and empty booze bottles.

Landlord Billy Dix said: "I sleep upstairs and came down to open up. I found her downstairs."

The alarm was raised at 7.40am at the Cotes Park Inn, Somercotes, near Alfreton, Derbys, on Friday.

A police spokesman said: "She was arrested on suspicion of burglary."

Officers were unable to interview the woman after she was given a breath test which showed she was four times over the drink-drive limit.

One of the bar staff said: "It seems she had put her mouth under the spirits optics and drunk herself into a stupor."

BABES FROM MTV'S THE VALLEYS TELL HOW THEY'RE DEALING WITH FAME

My Nan rang me up and said 'Don't have sex on the telly'

WELSH RAREBITS: The girls from The Valleys (l-r Jenna, Nicole, Nataliee, Lateysha and Carley) show their national pride...and much more!

GLAND OF MY FATHERS: Girls put on an arousing display in saucy show, set in Wales

RAUNCHY The Valleys stunna Jenna Jonathan has been BANNED from bonking...by her GRAN!

The frisky lovely, who was seen shagging during the first series of the hit MTV reality show, had her poor nan nearly choking on her Werther's Originals when her steamy scenes.

Now Jenna, 22, has been given a tough talking-to by her family, who have urged her to refrain from on-screen nookie.

The saucy minx, who was caught on film being scuttled by her boyfriend Leeroy Reed last year, said: "Watching yourself have sex on telly is so

By ISOBEL DICKINSON
izzy@sundaysport.co.uk

embarrassing, especially when you know your mum and nan are watching."

"My nan rang me up and was like 'Jenna, do not have sex'. My mum was like 'You've done it once, don't do it again'."

But not everyone on the show is vowing to keep their bits covered up in the new series of the show, set in Cardiff.

Feisty Nicole Morris, 20, giggled: "I'll always get my knickers off because I like my bum. But I'd never take off my bra. No one will ever see my boobs as I haven't got any."

The gorgeous girls revealed they have no regrets over getting matching tattoos of SHEEP on their FANNIES, in one of last season's most outrageous scenes.

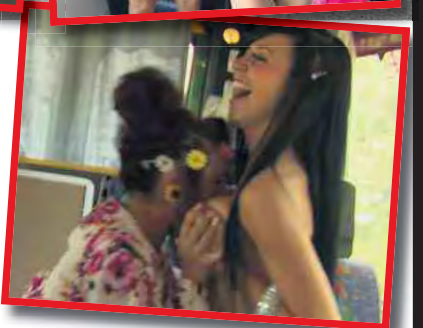

Jenna added: "I don't regret getting a sheep on my foot. No way! It hurt so much though. It's only got half a face now."

And saucy Lateysha Grace, 20, said she's worried that she'll never get taken up the aisle because she comes across as such a 'slag' on the box.

She said: "I think 'who is ever going to marry me?'"

"If they watch the show they're going to think I'm a right slag."

THE new series of The Valleys starts on MTV on Tuesday 30th April.

THERE were some great scenes last week when our great Olympic cycling hero Chris Hoy announced he was retiring.

He's been absolutely brilliant for the sport and never let the country down.

He's an 11-times world champ, six-times Olympic champ, twice Commonwealth Games winner and a BBC Sports Personality of the Year.

'Small cock' porn man shoots back

A PROLIFIC porn actor has brushed off claims he has a TINY penis.

Teen Mom star Farrah Abraham said James Deen, 27, should quit the business because his todger isn't big enough.

The MTV reality show brunette said: "He should really just get out of the porn industry."

"He disrespects women and his penis is small."

Farrah, 21, made the below-the-belt outburst while defending a sex tape she made with James - who shot erotic thriller The Canyons with Lindsay Lohan recently.

But James, who has appeared in more than 1,400 adult flicks, hit back, saying: "On the list of things I care about the size of my penis is number 783."

She'd drawn a huge SPURTING knob and balls on her numbers graph during the comedy quiz show.

AMANDA, PIPPA OR FOXY?

Hotties spark mass debate

MASS DEBATE:
Brits are in a froth

IT'S the question that's split Britain three ways - who is the hottest babe: Amanda Thatcher, Pippa Middleton or Foxy Knox?

It had been thought that the biggest controversy surrounding Wednesday's funeral of Baroness Thatcher was the £10million cost of the event.

But the appearance of the late PM's 19-year-old granddaughter Amanda divided Britain far more deeply, it seems.

Swoon

As Yank Mandy delivered the lesson at St Paul's Cathedral in London, millions of previously-staunch anti-Thatcherites took to Twitter to swoon over the University of Richmond student.

A Twitter user named only Scientific Research, commented: "Margaret Thatcher's Hottie Granddaughter Amanda Thatcher Stole the Show at Her Funeral".

User Sikipedia was more blunt, with: "So people have finally woken up and noticed 19-year-old Amanda Thatcher is fable".

Another user commented: "Had a sex dream about Margaret Thatcher's granddaughter Amanda".

Daniel Kucavik from Slovakia summed up the split with: "The nation was once again divided following Maggie's funeral. What's best - Pippa Middleton's arse or Amanda Thatcher's tits?"

The bitterness deepened with many users posting: "How dare they compare Amanda Thatcher to Pippa Middleton. Just the name Thatcher is enough to make you lose your hard on."

However, many stayed true to former jailbird Amanda Knox, aka Foxy Knox.

Amanda, 25, who released her autobiography last week, remains a "top hot babe" for many.

Twitter user Dan Sayles from Crewe, Cheshire, raged: "Amanda Thatcher and Pippa Middleton are mere Johnny-Come-Latelies. It's Foxy for me, every time."

Last night media analyst Barrington Parton said: "We have not seen the community split like this since the great Alexis v Krystle Carrington off of Dynasty. But you're probably too young to remember that."

COME ON, FOLKS, WHO IS YOUR FAVOURITE?

Sir Cliff in dead pansy warning!

SIR Cliff Richard is bad for your garden, it was claimed last night.

A gardening expert found flowers subjected to the warbling of the 72-year-old star wilted and DIED – while blooms that were played the heavy rock sounds of Black Sabbath thrived.

Chris Beardshaw, from top radio show Gardeners' Question Time, claimed different genres of music would encourage plants to grow at different rates.

The experiment took flowers in glasshouses and treated them to four different music styles – classical, Sir Cliff, Sabbath and complete silence, as a control.

They found that plants surrounded by classical tunes grew slightly shorter than those left in silence.

Beardshaw said that exposing others to Sir Cliff Richard's music had been a disaster – killing off ALL the plants involved.

He said: "The ones with Black Sabbath were the shortest, but they had the best flowers and resistance to pests and disease."

Fat's not on the council budget

CHUBBY council workers have been 'urged' to go on a diet after a health check found that THREE QUARTERS were overweight.

Health chiefs at Croydon Borough Council in south London did a Body Mass Index (BMI) on 70 of its workers and found that 52 – a staggering 74 per cent – were obese.

Staff have now been 'urged' to join the in-house Weight Watchers group to help them trim down.

Croydon has one of the highest number of fast food takeaways in the UK, with seven per cent of all shops dedicated to fatty treats.

THE OSBOURNES...IS IT THE END?

Sharon and Ozzy on the rocks? The miracle is they didn't split years ago

HEAVY SH*T! Sharon and Ozzy have separated while he gets treatment for booze and drugs

LOVE-SPLIT rocker Ozzy Osbourne confessed to wife Sharon how he feared he'd caught AIDS from shagging too many GROUPIES.

The Black Sabbath frontman last week announced he and missus of 31 years Sharon, 60, had separated while he seeks treatment for drug and alcohol problems.

But pals of the showbiz couple say it's a miracle they didn't split years ago, when Ozzy, 64, admitted to his X-rated and extra-marital affairs.

Our source close to the Brit stars

By KELLY JENKINS

kelly@sundaysport.co.uk

of MTV reality show The Osbournes said: "Sharon has put up with a lot being married to Ozzy."

"They've been on the rocks countless times and everyone is surprised they're still together now."

Writing in his autobiography I Am Ozzy, published in 2009, the dad of three blurted out: "One night I bonked this chick in the Sunset Marquis Hotel in West Hollywood."

"As soon as I was done, I just knew something wasn't right."

West Midlands-born Ozzy – real name John – called a doctor to look at his wedding tackle and was told he needed an HIV test immediately.

He said: "I blurted everything out to Sharon. You can imagine how that went down."

"Think of that 100 megaton bomb the Russians once set off in the Arctic."

"That was Sharon when I told her that I had to get an HIV test 'cos I'd bonked some dodgy chick from a hotel bar."

Divorce

"I began to think being dead might actually be better than being alive for another bollocking."

"Anyway, I got the test. And then a week later I went with Sharon to get the results."

Startlingly, the boffins informed Ozzy that he WAS "borderline" HIV positive and would require more tests.

He added: "The next day we went back for my results. Sharon was in the mood for was divorce. I honestly thought my marriage was over."

"The doc said, 'So, Mr Osbourne, we ran another test on you and I am delighted to say that you don't seem to have HIV – but your blood does contain near-fatal quantities of alcohol and cocaine'."

"I nodded, but by then I wasn't even listening. I was too busy planning

IN HAPPIER TIMES: Ozzy and Sharon with daughter Aimee

the drink I needed to celebrate. Mind you, I did change my lifestyle in one way – I never cheated on Sharon again."

Last week Paranoid crooner Ozzy issued a statement on Facebook explaining his relapse.

Denying any permanent rift with former X Factor judge Sharon, he apologised to his wife and kids for his "insane" behaviour.

He added: "I would like to apologize to Sharon, my family, my friends and my bandmates for my insane behaviour during this period... and my fans."

At home with Amelia and Maite

GOING outside is so over-rated – especially if you've got Amelia Heather and Maille Doyle waiting for you at home.

We visited the two close pals at their flat in Camden, north London, last week and saw what the stunnae get up to behind closed doors.

Busty Amelia, originally from Gillingham, Kent, showed us her perfect 32F pleasure orbs.

The 21-year-old also revealed her suggestive party trick: "My sexy fact is that I have an unusually long tongue."

Meanwhile brunette Maille, 22, boasts a staggering set of 30C assets...and plenty of tattoos to boot.

And the beauty, from Bristol, feels right at home down her local parlour.

She confessed: "I'm training to become a body piercer, so I get to hang out in tattoo shops all day."

Struggling rag turns to Hitler to make money

FAILING snoozepaper The Guardian is trying to make money out of its readers by flogging copies of ADOLF HITLER's book.

And the dreary rag – so clever that it lost £44million last year – is even offering its sandal-wearing readers a DISCOUNT on the 720-page tome, the infamous Mein Kampf.

It describes the book, whose title means "My Struggle", as "Hitler's infamous political tract first published in 1925-26 and widely translated since".

It adds: "This edition contains a detailed introduction which analyses Hitler's background, ideology and his ruthless understanding of political power."

At no point in the advert, which offers the book for £16 instead of £20, does The Guardian make it clear Hitler was a Nazi, leader of the Third Reich, the Fuhrer, and an all-round ct.

Nor does it say that he was responsible for the Holocaust – the state-sponsored genocide of around six million Jews.

PHILIPPINES

THE son of deposed dictator Ferdinand Marcos has rejected a recently released U.S. government account that his late father forced military chiefs to parade in drag at a birthday party.

Marcos Jr said he'd seen them perform skirts for a laugh, but them being made to drag-up by the late tyrant was untrue.

AN INQUIRY has begun after the wrong patient had an operation – while the patient who should have been under the knife vanished.

The blunder at the Lucien-Hussel hospital in Vienne came to light last week when the “wrong” patient went for a check-up. Hospital bosses blame a mix-up with files.

CAR dealer Carlo Hallacq, 42, has racked up so many traffic infringement notices, he is not only banned from driving cars in New South Wales for 45 years – he is not even allowed to sell them.

The Sydney man's driving licence was withdrawn after he incurred 500 parking fines and speeding fines.

TWO boys and a girl involved in a Cape Town high school sex video scandal could find themselves in court facing illegal pornography charges.

Police confirmed the case was opened against the three 17-year-olds, who were expelled when she came case to light.

CAR SALES BABE SLIPS OUT OF GEAR

BRITAIN'S sexiest car saleswoman has stepped off the PHWOAR-court to make her TOPLESS debut in Sunday Sport.

Stunning Sarah-Anne Williamson, 21, has been a New Car Sales Executive at a luxury dealership in her home town of Nottingham for the last three years.

And with her eye-popping 32DD boobs the brunette leaves buyers drooling. She said: "It's a fantastic job. We get a choice of company cars and there's always a nice new model to test.

"At the moment I'm driving a Madza MX5 soft top. All my mates are really jealous that it's part of my job.

"I am very lucky because we sell some very high end motors and even if I don't take one home I get to have a little drive out in it."

Bubbly Sarah-Anne is the only woman working at the company – a female version of Swiss Tony from 90s BBC comedy hit The Fast Show.

And her good looks mean she's never short of a sale.

She added: "Let's just say I have no trouble getting sales – I probably get the most because I'm the only woman there."

Peston blown away by PM gobble jibes

BBC business editor Robert Peston was at the centre of a BLOW JOB mix-up involving the PRIME MINISTER last week.

The popular presenter – who famously scooped the world with his exclusive on the collapse of Northern Rock building society – found himself bombarded with cheeky comments on Twitter.

It began after he posted a message on the social networking site talking about what he'd been up to at work that day.

He wrote: "Had a fab blowy pm in Nottingham today, filmed at UK's 1st Asda, for my new BBC2 doco series on our shopping addiction."

What Peston, 52, had meant to say was he'd been filming in windy conditions during the afternoon – but not all of his followers took it that way.

Luke Riley tweeted: "it sounds like you had fab blowy off a pm mate."

Peston followed up with a further tweet, saying: "My goodness you have filthy minds."

BBC FOOD MAN IN NOSH SCANDAL

A BBC presenter and top restaurant critic says he got a BLOWJOB in return for a good review.

Giles Coren, 43, said he got "noshed off" while working for posh Tatler magazine in the late 1990s.

The writer – who has presented two BBC series with comedian Sue Perkins and does regular food reviews for The Times – made the amazing revelation in student mag XCity.

He confessed: "The owner of a restaurant once threatened to break my legs."

"I had been saying how I thought it was

By JUSTIN DUNN
justin@sundaysport.co.uk

sick to charge such prices and that I wouldn't go on principle, and then he threatened my kneecaps through his PR agent.

"What was extra comical was that I had slept with her (the PR) not long before."

Decent

"She basically noshed me off in return for a decent review."

Asked later about the claim, Coren – who also helped chef Gordon Ramsay host Channel 4's The F Word back in 2005 – said: "It was the late 90s, before I was married and I was working for Tatler.

GOBBLE: Giles (right) with comic Sue

"PRs would basically invite you to lunch and you'd go along."

"Nowadays the answer is absolutely 'no'. I go incognito and pay for myself."

"But back then I was 29, I had broken up from my girlfriend and you'd get offers of lunch, you'd get pissed and end up sleeping with them."

"I tried to pull Tatler girls but I wasn't posh enough. PR girls were on my level."

"You might have a shag, but you'd still end up writing an honest review of the restaurant."

"Restaurants you forget... blowjobs you don't."

WE girls love nothing better than a good get-together and a chinwag. You won't find many of the female sex on the planet who don't enjoy swapping gossip and tips about men. Of course, not so many of them will strip totally naked when they have an intimate heart-to-heart, but I suppose we're just that bit closer than most. That's all right, isn't it?

Missy Love

GETTING MY KIT OFF MADE ME EXCITED

(Not half as excited as it made us, Jaime)

SULTRY actress Jaime Murray says she LOVED stripping off for her seductive role in saucy new telly show Spartacus.

And the stunning brunette revealed that filming a sexy threesome EXCITED her, too.

By KELLY JENKINS
kelly@sundaysport.co.uk

Essex beauty Jaime – who plays fiery redhead Gaia in the Sky1 series – got her kit off for a kinky ménage à trois with co-stars Lucy Lawless and John Hannah last year. And the 35-year-old babe, who starred as a baddie in serial killer thriller Dexter, said: “Those scenes weren't exactly just another day in the life of an actress.”

“That would be weird, wouldn't it? I was really excited to do the show because it was interesting, innovative and different.”

“My co-star was Lucy Lawless, and I loved the relationship between these two women.”

Oddness

“We'd talk about what was going on with their relationship and in order to block out the oddness of the situation we played music.”

In the kinky scene Jaime pours red wine over her boobs while Lucy pleasures herself on a bed.

Former Hustle babe Jaime is also currently starring in Syfy's new alien spectacular Defiance.

STRIP HIP HOORAY: Jaime is happy to bare all in her new telly role

NIPPLE EFFECT: Co-star Lucy has a chest to treasure

Fury as man is caught in just sussies

A MAN wearing only stockings and suspenders was chased by cops through a forest in broad daylight for HALF AN HOUR before being nicked.

Two women out walking in the woods came upon the man dressed in the lingerie and nothing else. Police confirmed a 59-year-old man was arrested in the Victoria Road area of Londonderry (above) on suspicion of indecent exposure.

He was questioned and released on police bail pending further inquiries.

Councillor Maurice Devenney said the incident was an example of sexual behaviour taking place in the Prehen area of the city.

The councillor said such incidents were now a nightly problem with up to 150 adults gathering to indulge in nookie in the woods.

Mr Devenney said local people were sickened by the lewd behaviour.

FAKING HELL!

A THIRD of blokes admit faking orgasms, a new study in sexual behaviour at the University of Kansas has found – as opposed to 70% of women.

IN THE KNOW WITH MIKE STARR

BRITAIN'S No.1 SHOWBIZ COLUMN

NEW-AGE techno frapper JINGO GIGGERBAT is in for a nasty surprise, we hear, as former squeeze RIMMY SLIDZ is out of the clinic.

Rimmy, half of Nineties jailbait sensation WONT TELL, went into "treatment" last September after an incident with a packet of Angel Delight.

And she's told pals that a "reconciliation" with Jingo is on the cards. Let's hope she doesn't find out he's the one who called in the loony squad!

WHAT'S the betting compulsive gambler and gameshow host GRAHAM PING is jumping for joy after BOING! TV offered him a gig in Las Vegas?

So we can only shudder to think what he'll get up to while filming the new show, provisionally called GRAHAM PING GOES TO SIN CITY.

THINGS go from bad to catastrophic for ballet hunk TARQUIN FYSTER, who many had thought was over the worst after that business in Marston.

It seems that Tarquin's long-time "companion", theatrical agent LARRY FLOUNCE, got into an altercation in Wincham over an antique pouffe.

Eager to help his pal, Tarquin waded in – "up to his elbows", according to some witnesses – and he's now remanded in custody... and missed a tour to Vietnam.

NEVER one to miss an opportunity, controversial protest singer HUGO GROOT last week launched a massive broadside against the ISLE OF MAN!

Hugo reckons the Manx island is a "hotbed of runaway capitalism" and "responsible for just about every social sin in the modern world".

But the composer of the anti-money anthem YOU DON'T NEED IT NOOOOOO later apologised, explaining that he'd misread something on Twitter.

BAD news for fans of boy band WEDGED RIGHT IN, who looked like they could do no wrong after their last album SAY IF IT HURTS went triple platinum.

Things took a turn after singer GAVIN TWINKE said during an interview on Icelandic TV that fellow band member DARREN POPPERS "was a big tranny".

The subsequent Twitter storm melted computers at Wedged Right In's record company, SANTORIUM, and MD NAXOS PAPHILIDES has desperately apologised to "all the little lady he-shes" – which didn't help.

publishes its annual Rich List, we present the...

PROFESSOR, AGE 46, FORTUNE: £0

ONE of Crewe's leading authorities on strong lager and low living, Professor won his name after once – in a rare moment of clarity – speaking about the paintings of the Dutch Masters, albeit to a gathering of dogs.

How he acquired this in-depth grasp of 16th Century Low Countries art remains a mystery.

To the relief of other vagrants in the Cheshire railway town, Professor soon reverted to his normal yelping, jabbering and sobbing – but the nickname stuck.

At last count, his total wealth consisted of the tinfoil from a discarded Holland's pie and a torn vacuum cleaner bag.

THIRSTY MIKE, AGE 51, FORTUNE: £0

SWIGGING a three-litre bottle of strong cider in one gulp is a rare talent – though not unknown in the rougher areas of Blackpool that Mike calls home.

But Mike has taken the skill to another level, swallowing the lot in an astonishing four-and-a-half seconds.

Alas, Mike's total dedication to becoming Blackpool's premier swallower of cider has not been without consequences.

He is shy several internal organs and his communication skills, according to friends, amount to little more than "quiet mewling".

SHOUTY ANGUS, AGE UNKNOWN, FORTUNE: £0

HOW much duller the world would be were it not for the leader of Blackpool's expatriate Caledonian community.

Little is known about Angus's background, save that he claims to hail from either Arbroath or Perth.

On balance, his coming from the gloriously drunken city of Perth is more likely.

A lively character, Angus is as likely to turn up at a Lord Lieutenant's garden party as a primary school sports day.

Unfortunately, his habit of public urination is wholly unsuited to either and, as a result, Angus has the greatest number of public order convictions in UK legal history.

IT'S that time again, folks – the annual Sunday Sport Poor List.

Like the Rich List, produced by our down-at-heel London-based rival The Sunday Times, the Sunday Sport Poor List is one of the most important barometers of Britain's economic state.

As the fiscal crisis heads towards its sixth year, competition to get on the List is tight as thousands more plunge into the dizzying depths of mind-boggling poverty.

Our crack team of researchers have spent the last 12 months probing the financial

By SIMON DEAN

simon@sundaysport.co.uk

dealings of Britain's super-poor.

Sunday Sport money experts have burned the midnight oil unravelling the Byzantine schemes used by the desperately skint to conceal just how impecunious they are.

The result is the most comprehensive and up-to-date guide to the potless and penniless in Britain today.

Last night an insider at the Department of Work and Pensions said they "probably wouldn't" show our report to secretary of state Iain Duncan Smith as he's "a bit on edge at the moment".

LORETTA, AGE 45, FORTUNE: £0

A REFLECTION of the growing importance of the transsexual community in Britain, Loretta is the first sex swap (Can we check we can say this? – Ed) on the Poor List.

Formerly a lorry driver called Brian, Loretta officially became a woman last year when he (Check this, I'm sure we have to say "she" – Ed) spent the last of his savings on a sex change.

The burly six-footer failed to find gainful employment after his (No, I'm sure we have to say "her". They get ever so upset about this sort of thing, you know – Ed) nip and tuck.

Fuelled mainly by cleaning fluids and cheap fruit juices, Loretta has the alarming habit of stopping passersby to ask: "Am I beautiful? Am I?"

DANIEL, AGE 26, FORTUNE: £0

DANIEL has the notable achievement of playing a corpse more often on British TV than anyone else.

Alas, his lucrative – if somewhat macabre – living shuddered to a halt when he infested a leading actress and was banned by the actors' union Equity.

Already on the streets – his television wages were all consumed by a fondness for Albanian gin – Daniel sank below the gutter.

A new career as a research specimen for the Ministry of Defence biological weapons establishment at Porton Down came to a halt when it was decided the vile infections he carried "were unusable, even in the most desperate battle."

THE BIG RISERS

PASTILLE ALAN, 40, FORTUNE: £0

ALTHOUGH Alan only made his List debut last year, he's already looking like a veteran.

Since then, Alan has not moved an inch from the former Kwik Save in Bolton – even as it was demolished around him.

SHOUTY MICK, 71, FORTUNE: £0

LAST year we reported Mick had died and been partly eaten by dogs.

New evidence shows he's not dead – just VERY smelly. Mick celebrated literally coming back from the dead by drinking himself into a coma.

THE BIG FALLERS

NORMAN, 47, FORTUNE: £0

NORMAN has been on the List since its inception. Alas, the past 12 months have not been kind.

There was hope when he was sure he saw a £1 coin on the floor, but it was the reflection of his grotesquely dilated pupil in his vomit.

DIRTY BILLY, 51, FORTUNE: £0

THANKS to his favoured tippie cider & Windowlene being on offer at his local 51p Shop, Billy has lived the party life this year.

As a result, he is now permanently bewildered but his breath can clean patio doors at 20 paces.

Council chiefs finger French for hole lot of highway hell

COUNCIL chiefs have blamed an increasing number of potholes on the FRENCH... and the ROMAN EMPIRE.

Bosses at Kent County Council's Highways Services – which filled in nearly 15,000 potholes last year – say craters keep reappearing because of unsuitable French asphalt.

And chiefs also blamed the Roman Empire – for not laying the roads on strong enough foundations 2,000 YEARS ago.

John Burr, the highways and transportation boss of Kent Highway Services, said the council bought tonnes of stone mastic asphalt from France after it was deemed a 'success' across the Channel.

He told councillors:

"It worked very well in France but their road structure is very different.

"The product is very good and very strong, but because it is so strong, if there is any flex in the road, then it comes out."

He said that as many of the UK's road were 'built by the Romans' they were 'more likely to move'.

He said the council was reducing its use of French asphalt and replacing it with hot rolled asphalt.

I can't work today, dog's ate my thong

A WOMAN rang her boss saying she couldn't turn up for work because her dog scooped her G-STRING.

She claimed: "I won't be in for three days. My dog ate my thong and is now sick. I have to take it to the vet for surgery."

Other bizarre excuses for sickies, revealed in an internet poll, include:

I slept with the manager's daughter's husband and I feel coming in so soon afterward would be awkward.

I have to go to hospital, a butterfly died in my ear and is now stuck.

I slept in because I lent my alarm clock to my neighbour.

My wife threw me out so I'm living in my van. All my food spoiled and made me sick.

I didn't know it was Monday. I thought it was Sunday.

I got soap in my eye when I was showering.

An old girlfriend came and messed with my head.

I got bitten by a bat and now I have rabies.

My foot's stuck in a tap.

My dog's having a nervous breakdown.

YANKS A LOT!

JILTED Laquavia Wallace, 22, tried to YANK OFF ex-lover Antonio Williams's willy after he refused to get back with her in Sarasota, Florida.

Sarah Randall
Age 21, 34HH-25-35, from Cardiff

WERE BANNED

MEET the top-heavy babe who was told her boobs were TOO BIG for glamour modelling.

Sultry Sarah Randall was shunned by our timid Fleet Street rivals, who quibbled that her stunning 34HH boobs were simply too ENORMOUS to print!

Twitchy editors were worried Sarah's palm-stretching top-rack would simply be too much for their limp-dicked readers.

But we've snapped-up the gorgeous 21-year-old, because we're confident Sunday Sport fans can handle her assets!

Sarah, from Cardiff, says she was close to giving up on her dream of becoming a pin-up after one major red top – who we can't name because of the Leveson Inquiry – called her agent to say she was barking up the wrong tree.

Brunette Sarah revealed: "It was a little disheartening when I got the phone call and they said I was too busty for Page 3. I couldn't believe what I was hearing."

"As a woman with natural curves I think it's really important to celebrate curvy ladies who happen to be able to fill large bras – it's just a shame not everyone thinks the same."

"I'm proud to be a supporter of large boobs – and I hope I've found my home here at Sunday Sport."

Come on in, love, and take pew – you're more than welcome here!

EXECUTED FOR HIS ERECTION

Architect's 'cock skyscraper' angers Kim

BELL-END: Korean tyrant Kim (inset) and the cock...
flats

By BARNEY SAMUELS
in Pyongyang

TUBBY North Korean tyrant Kim Jong-Un ordered an architect to be SHOT – after he designed a building shaped like a 200-ft COCK!

Lee Gyong was delighted when asked by officials to build the block of flats, designated People's Housing Structure 46, on the outskirts of the capital Pyongyang.

Thanks to the country's extreme poverty, fewer than two new buildings are built in the benighted country each year, so 30-year-old Lee was lucky to get the job.

But excitement got the better of him and in an architectural flourish, he added a bell-shaped cupola to the top.

Unfortunately, dictator Kim believed Lee was "taking the ruddy piss" with his artistic embellishment, and ordered him killed by the secret police.

An insider in Pyongyang, who we have agreed not to name for fear of retributions, said: "Kim is very sensitive about the size of his penis – it being very small as he had an infection as a baby.

UNRUCKY: Architect Lee suffered for his art

"When he was taken to see Lee Gyong's building he went very red, then very pale, then raged that Lee was 'A ruddy f---, bastard, taking ruddy piss, saying I have small dick!'"

"That was that. I'm sure Lee did not mean to insult the Leader but there is no court of appeal in North Korea – he was taken to the back of his building and shot."

"Kim has ordered that the building be pulled down. This is a shame as it used six months-worth of our entire concrete production."

Dog welfare man's 'sex with beasts'

AN ANIMAL refuge worker is being held, accused of having sex with at least four dogs he was looking after.

Seadon Henrich, 22, (above) was arrested after cops were tipped off he'd posted photos of himself having sex with the mutts online.

The acts, they said, took place for 18 months while Henrich worked alone at night at the shelter.

His arrest warrant says "he wilfully and feloniously committed the abominable and detestable crime against nature."

Henrich put at least three pictures on a bestiality website of himself "engaged in a sex act with a dog."

He has been charged with four crimes against nature and three counts of disseminating obscenity in Raleigh, North Carolina.

Magistrate Jerry Saferight said: "I've been here 31 years and I thought I had seen everything."

Henrich is being held in custody until he comes up with £45,000 bail.

Nail tech's 'flat orgy' with teens

A MARRIED manicurist has been accused of having sex with two teens while three others watched.

Jeanine Shimandale, 42, is said to have plied the 13 and 17-year-old lads with vodka before bonking them in front of other teens said cops.

The alleged session took place at a flat she was looking after for a pal in Sarasota, Florida.

Shimandale faces four counts of lewd and lascivious exhibition and contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

10 THINGS YOU DIDN'T KNOW ABOUT... THE LOCH NESS MONSTER

THE legendary Scottish beast turned 80 last week, having first been spotted by startled hotel boss Aldie Mackay back in 1933.

Driving along the shores of Loch Ness, she saw a 'whale-type' creature lurking at Aldourie Castle, Inverness-shire.

And when her story broke in The Inverness Courier the next day it sparked a media frenzy that has refused to die down since.

But, what do we really know about Nessie and the loch she allegedly lives in?

Here are 10 things you might not know...

1 The term "monster" was coined by Alex Campbell, the water bailiff for Loch Ness and a part-time journalist. He sold Mrs Mackay's story to The Inverness Courier.

2 On December 6, 1933, the first purported photograph of the beast, taken by Hugh Gray, was published in the Daily Express. Gray said: "An object of considerable dimensions rose out of the water not very far from where I was." Later scrutiny suggested it could show a dog swimming with a stick in its mouth.

3 In the 1930s, a prankster used a hippopotamus' foot umbrella stand to make footprints as "proof" Nessie was real.

4 In a 1979 article, California biologist Dennis Power and geographer Donald Johnson claimed the photographs of the monster were the top of the head, extended trunk and nostrils of a swimming elephant.

5. The most famous Nessie photo - showing the trademark long neck poking out of the water - was snapped in April 1934 by British surgeon Col Robert Wilson. It later transpired to be a toy submarine kitted out with a sea-serpent's head. Christian Spurling, who'd assisted Wilson with the hoax, made the confession on his death bed in 1994.

6. There is more water in Loch Ness than all the other lakes in England, Scotland and Wales put together.

7. In 1972 a zoologist from Yorkshire shaved the whiskers off a bull elephant seal and dumped it into the loch to fool his colleagues, who were searching for Nessie.

8. The most recent sighting came in August last year, when tourist boat skipper George Edwards snapped what appears to be a large hump rising.

9. In February 2012, a sonar image of a large mystery object deep below the surface of Loch Ness netted boat skipper Marcus Atkinson the Best Nessie Sighting of The Year Award.

10. Jon Downes, of the UK-based Centre for Fortean Zoology, said in 2003 that the monster is probably a very large eel, which is infertile and has stayed in the Loch instead of migrating to the Sargasso Sea to reproduce.

AS DISCOVERY CHANNEL HUNK

GREAT ARE THEY

JAWS-DROPPER:
Babe rides Great Whites for fun

WHAT FIRST ATTRACTED YOU TO SHARKS?

When I was really, really young I can remember occasionally seeing sharks on TV - probably BBC-Nature-Discovery Channel type stuff.

I was infatuated with any marine programme and sharks really stood out to me.

I'm pretty sure I swam around with sharks a lot as a kid - just playing in the surf and snorkelling - but I didn't purposely swim with them until I was 14.

I was in love with how beautiful and graceful a shark was and so mellow I actually paddled after it wanting to watch it more.

HAVE YOU EVER BEEN ATTACKED OR NEARLY ATTACKED BY ONE?

Never.

DO YOU FEEL THAT SHARKS ARE MISUNDERSTOOD?

Yes, I think the perception that people have of these animals is extremely skewed.

And it is indirectly responsible for why so many have been allowed to go unprotected from overfishing - to the point of near extinction.

IS THIS BECAUSE OF FILMS LIKE JAWS?

Jaws is one of the most notorious films that really played on a human's psyche.

It takes the natural fear that people have of the unknown and creating a label of demonic man-killer.

It doesn't help that, when the news only brings attention to sharks when there is a mistaken identity bite.

The media tends to play up the drama and add to the collective fear of sharks.

Sharks do mistake people for food, accidents happen, and they are extremely rare compared to most any other way that humans die.

Humans are not what sharks want to eat and generally victims die from blood loss not from being eaten.

DO YOU GET A THRILL FROM SWIMMING WITH SHARKS?

I get very excited and happy every

In the Discovery Channel series, he joins forces with behavioural boffins, scientists and extreme divers in order to get up close with fascinating but DEADLY animals.

Steve, 39, swims with Africa's most dangerous animal, the hippo, the world's biggest snake, the anaconda, the terrifying and illusive giant Humboldt squid and the most feared creature in the world, the Great White shark.

But diving with Great Whites is all in a day's work for blonde conservationist Ocean Ramsey.

Ocean, 27, has been swimming with the fearsome beasts since she was just 14, without the aid of a shark cage and without receiving a scratch... so far!

Sunday Sport caught up with Ocean at her home in Honolulu, Hawaii.

time I dive with sharks – especially Great Whites because they are so rare to see.

Great Whites are an endangered species with fewer than 3,000 worldwide. It makes me sad to think that in a short while I may never get to see a live one again.

So when I do get a chance to see a Great White there is a thrill, like I just found a diamond in the ocean.

HOW DO YOU EXPECT TO PROTECT SHARKS?

I think the first step is to help dispel the unreasonable media-created fear that people have about the animals.

Simultaneously I'd like to help educate people about how important their role is in the ecosystem and they are being killed off and over fished and fanned for soup, trophy hunting, souvenirs, medicinal and by-catch.

They are at the top of the food chain and so their numbers are naturally already low.

They are slow to reproduce, they pup very few young and are not resilient to fishing pressures.

ARE SHARKS AS DANGEROUS AS PEOPLE THINK?

Sharks are wild animals and apex predators. Some species are capable of killing large, quick-moving marine animals.

Most however are scavengers that are only looking for something already dead or small and obviously harmless.

Sharks could be more dangerous than they are but because of their 400 million years of highly evolved sensory systems they are able to differentiate us from their actual prey.

Occasionally mistaken identity bites do happen.

These incidents could also be better prevented if the public was informed about specific locations and conditions that increase chances of confusing sharks sensory systems.

YOU'RE A BEAUTIFUL LADY, DO YOU THINK THAT IT COULD HELP PEOPLE SIT UP AND TAKE NOTICE?

Thank you so much for the kind compliment.

I have had people say that the perception of myself in contrast to the general perception of sharks does intrigue them.

And the images of us sharing water seems to also contradict what was previously generally believed about these animals.

People often look with their eyes before they listen with their ears. Anything that I can do to help save sharks I will do and I am grateful if my physical appearance allows my message to reach more people.

DO YOU LIKE THAT PEOPLE CALL YOU THE SHARK WHISPERER?

I think that the term shark whisperer could be confusing to the fact that I am not trying to train or tame these animals as a horse whisperer or dog whisperer does.

Sometimes, I feel I'm trying to address human psychology and bring attention to its environmental impacts.

I've been around animals my whole life and I am naturally fascinated about them and do my best to interpret animal behaviour.

THERE IS A VIDEO OF YOU ONLINE GRABBING A SHARK BY THE FIN – WHEN DID YOU FIRST DO THAT?

The first time I dorsal rode a great white was in 2008 or 2009 and I couldn't help my curiosity as to what they felt like when I was already so close to them.

The sharks seemed to slow down just after passing me and didn't seem to be bothered by my touch – they returned multiple times.

They're like puppies – they like to be stroked.

SHARKS have a lot more to fear from us than we do from them.

More than 100,000 of them are killed each year and often in slow, cruel ways.

Please help stop the devastation of our ocean eco-systems – check out waterinspired.com for ways you can help change the way we treat our underwater environment and preserve what we have left.

CAPTION CONTEST

THIS WEEK

YOUR entries for our last Caption Contest were HEL-arious - we almost had to call the air ambulance for the work experience lad, who almost bust his stitches chortling.

But there can only be one winner, and this week it's STEVE SHEPPARD of Doncaster with: "I misunderstood when she said 'Come into the car park and get into my cock pit.'"

There'll be £50 on its way to you soon, Steve. These runners-up made us chuckle, too:

GERRY EXALL of Weston-super-Mare said: "The new sales director's got a reputation of being a right high flyer - I've no idea how that rumour started."

STEVE O'CONNELL from Hayes: "Let's see 'em put a wheel clamp on this."

ANDY LERRY of Lincoln: "That George Osborne is really taking the piss this time."

TOMMY COLEMAN, Newton-le-Willows: "I told you you needed to go to Specsavers, this isn't the airport, ya blind w'nker!"

PHIL CHATER from Stourbridge: "Well, I'm at the dogging site with my chopper out. I think I've come too early."

And MARTIN ROBSON of South Shields said: "Anyone who's dogging tonight's gonna be well impressed at the size of my chopper."

Now it's YOUR turn to see if you can win a cool £50 with your bare wit.

Just come up with a caption for this pic, fill in the coupon and send it to: Caption Contest, C/O Sunday Sport, City View House, 5 Union Street, Manchester, M12 4JD. Entries must be with us by Friday. Best of luck!

Man, 42, is latest victim of female rape gang

A MAN became the latest victim of a female rape gang that has been operating for "at least" a year, according to cops.

The 42-year-old was walking between Chinhoi and Chegutu in Zimbabwe when an unidentified vehicle stopped next to him.

The victim was offered a lift by the occupants of the car – two women and a man – and he jumped in.

Minutes later, one of the women suddenly blindfolded him and the vehicle stopped.

The man was forced to drink an unknown substance which made him dizzy and weak.

His "private part became erect", according to police reports.

One of the women forced him to lie on the ground before the man undressed him and the women then took turns to have sex with him.

After the act they warned him against telling anyone about the incident and they drove off leaving him in the secluded area.

Mashonaland West police spokesperson Inspector Clemence Mabgweazara confirmed the incident adding investigations were still in progress and no-one had been arrested in connection with the matter so far.

Woman jailed after dog orgy

A WOMAN who admitted having sex with a DOG during an orgy with members of her own FAMILY has been jailed for seven years.

Christina Spaid, 34, faced a string of charges including having sexual activity with a blood relative under the age of 17 as well as sexual activity involving the family dog while husband, Billie Spaid, watched.

Spaid, of Moberly, Missouri, pleaded guilty to endangering the welfare of a child, sodomy and unlawful sex with an animal.

The incidents date back to 2010.

Earlier this year, Billie Spaid was sentenced to 25 months in jail for his part in the sickening antics.

IT'S A KIND OF TRAGIC

A SORCERER has been jailed for eight years after two people died from poisoning during one of his occult ceremonies in Muscat, Oman.

SOME of the phrases we still throw around in everyday life are a bit outdated aren't they, guys?

For starters, 'two's company, three's a crowd' – what boring nerd made that one up?

I doubt if our little threesome turned up at your front door you'd be sending one of us home!

Personally, I think three's a lot of fun.

In fact, it can be far more exciting than two, believe me – I know!

BAD TIME FOR AN INCHY ARSE: Daredevil Mustang

THE FALL GUY!

Real-life Spider-Man takes a tumble

A VERTIGO-INDUCING urban explorer has had his first brush with DEATH after a terrifying slip nearly saw him plunge from a 300ft-high crane.

Mustang Wanted
Fearless nut-job Mustang Wanted has been making fans shit themselves by snapping himself in precarious situations.

Last February the cityscape stuntman, from Ukraine, climbed the support wires of the famous Moskovsky Bridge in Kiev in -26c temperatures.

And the 26-year-old followed that up by dangling from a rickety tower 820ft high by his fingertips. But Mustang — who refuses to reveal his real name for fear of prosecution – was nearly KILLED by an errorr.

A pal explained: "He was balancing on a very narrow beam when he slipped. We all thought he was dead, but somehow he managed to grab hold of a metal strut."

The shaven-headed loon has long boasted that he doesn't fear the Grim Reaper. He wrote on his Facebook page: "Everyone dies but not everyone lives their lives the way they want."

STUDENTS TALK SEX!

FIRST TIME

LISA: What was your first shag like?
CLARE: Ah, it was OK – nothing to write home about.

We all used to hang around this park near my mum's drinking wine and cider and I lost my cherry after a night out there.

It was in a bush with this lad who was a couple of years older than me.

I was 16 and got lots of scratches on my bum. That was probably the most memorable thing about it!

LISA: I lost mine with my first boyfriend.

He used to run a fruit and veg stall on the market and I was 16 as well. He was 18 and had been with a few girls.

He used to take me to the market with him every Saturday to get his fruit and veg!

Anyway, one weekend we decided to stay in a hotel near there the night before.

So that was when I first lost it. It was nice and romantic. We had a couple of drinks first, so I was in the mood, and I was with him for a couple of years.

We used to have a right giggle with the bits of fruit and veg!

FOREIGN OBJECTS

CLARE: No way! You have got to tell me about this fruit and veg action.

LISA: Well, you can guess, can't you? We just used to, you know, experiment with stuff.

So I've had bananas, cucumbers, carrots, celery, parsnips, basically any piece of fruit or veg you think you can stick up your fanny, I've done it!

And he used to love coming all over my juicy melons!

We used to play a game called "guess the object".

I still can't walk down the fruit and veg aisle in Tesco without smirking to myself.

CLARE: That is hilarious. I once had this guy stick a can of Impulse up me once, which was just funny though.

I was worried the lid was going to come off and get stuck, but then I didn't want to take it off in case it sprayed up my beaver either!

Anyway, thankfully it didn't.

SEX TOYS

LISA: So have you ever tried a sex toy?

CLARE: Well, I guess you've never needed to when you were with the fruit and veg man.

LISA: No, but they don't vibrate, do they?

I mean it gets a bit boring after a bit. So yes, I have got a sex toy.

It's a Rampant Rabbit and I really like it.

It's got all different speeds on the ear bits and the main shaft spins in different directions depending on what button you press.

But I'll be honest, I like a hard cock the best.

CLARE: I'm with you. I've got a little vibrator – I think it's called a bullet.

It's only about as big as a finger but it's so good when you're having a play.

I've tried one of those cock rings as well. I quite like those but they don't last for very long – only about 20 minutes.

That's not bad, but I like my saucy sessions to go on a bit longer.

BIG KNOBS

LISA: So, do you like a big one?

CLARE: Yes, I do think size is important. I have done it with a bloke with a little thin one but it wasn't very satisfying.

I like a big one that's nice and thick, so you can really feel it.

LISA: Yes, the fruit and veg man used to have a big one.

I think his was the biggest I've seen and because he was my first I've got high standards when it comes to willies.

I only really want to sleep with guys who've got one that's as least as long as my pencil case!

BEST SHAG

LISA: My best ever shag was when I had a threesome.

I was seeing this guy and we got it on with a lap-dancer. It was so horny.

CLARE: Oh my God – that is outrageous.

LISA: Well, we went to a lap-dancing bar. He'd been nagging at me to do it for ages.

Anyway, it wasn't really a threesome as such as he didn't shag her. But basically we got her to give a private dance.

Me and the dancer had a bit of a kiss and she got totally naked. It was so horny. Me and the guy were both fingering her.

Then I started licking her fanny and he was just gobsnacked.

Then I perched on his knee and started riding him while the girl sat on the back of the sofa and I carried on licking her out.

So we did have a threesome and I never heard the end of it after that. I've never known a bloke cum so hard.

CLARE: Bloody hell. That is really hot.

I've never done anything like that.

The best shag I ever had was in the toilet of a club with this lad who I fancied for ages. To be honest, he wasn't even that good, but I think it was the build-up as I'd wanted him for years!

LISA: Yes, sometimes when you really want someone, even if they are a load of crap, it can still be really explosive.

BUM FUN

LISA: Have you ever had anal?

CLARE: Yes, I've tried it. Thankfully not with the fruit and veg guy and his huge marrow! I did it once on a one night stand.

I was really drunk and just felt dead dirty, so I thought: "F it, I'll give it a go."

It was a guy on holiday, actually, and I thought that was a good way to get rid of my back-door cherry, so if it was awful then I'd never have to see him again.

Anyway, it was OK. But I think you need to be in a really randy mood to like it.

LISA: I've never tried it. I don't think I'd cleaning first thing. I usually try to get them to hop in the shower with me first if I want to give them a blowie.

But if I'm pissed I don't really give a toss. I know I give good head anyway and blokes never take long to come with me.

I don't like them to do it in my mouth, though. I normally get it all over my boobs instead!

CLARE: Lovely. Remind me never to pick up a tissue in your bedroom.

A CHINESE couple are in bed and the husband turns to his wife and says: "Hey, hun, I fancy a 69!" She replies: "You want beef and broccoli? Now?"

Steve Sheppard, Doncaster

I TOOK my son and his lovely wife for tea and biscuits the other day. They were a bit pissed off that they had to give a pint of blood, though.

AR Hall, Porthcawl

HAVE you heard that Cinderella has been banned from the fairytale books?

Apparently she sat on Pinocchio's nose and yelled: "Lie, you bastard, lie!"

David Saville, Mxborough

I SAID to my mate: "I had sex with a bloke in the cemetery last night." He replied: "I didn't know you were gay."

I said: "I'm not - I just got the wrong grave."

P Jones, Manchester

MY wife and I were out for dinner last night to celebrate our wedding anniversary.

"Who do you think I need to speak to about getting rid of this genital wart?" I said to her over a bowl of soup.

"I didn't know you had one of those," she replied. "When did you discover that?"

"My third spoonful - I thought it was a crouton!"

J Keele, Birmingham

I MANAGED to pull this gorgeous looking girl last night. After having a few drinks back at my place, we decided to take things upstairs.

While sucking my cock, she suddenly stopped what she was doing and gave me a horrified look. "What's wrong?" I asked. "It's clean, don't worry."

"It's not that," she replied. "I've just never met anyone that can suck their own dick!"

Outrageous real life tales of booze, babes & footie

WindowWiperLAD

NotAFighterLAD

I HAVE finally finished writing my dissertation and after making it look professional on my computer I checked the page count and it was on 69. Made me chuckle.

ImmatureLAD

WHEN I came back from my first tour of Afghanistan, my family and girlfriend thought I was coming back a few weeks later than I actually was, because I told them. I got my mates to let me know where they would be when I was coming home. He texts me saying that they are all having a meal at some posh restaurant for my sister's birthday. Imagine the reaction I got when I walked in and placed a few bottles of wine on the table. My mum kept poking me to make sure I was real and I'd never seen my dad cry until that day.

AS you know, Sunday Sport is the home of all things "lad", so it wasn't exactly rocket science to team up with the boys at www.truelad.com - the home of lad banter.

If you haven't already seen it, then you're missing out on some of the FUNNIEST real life stories and pictures the web has to offer.

Every week, we print a selection of their daily updates of true tales of lad life. Birds, booze, sport - you name it, www.truelad.com has got it covered. But don't take our word for it, check out the site yourself. You're guaranteed to piss yourself... in a good way!

AbsoluteRespectToThemLAD

FIRST time I got invited round to a girl's house to "watch a film" I got dead excited. Only to get there and actually watch a film. In the lounge. With her parents and little sister.

SoGuttedLAD

A GIRL, who was seemingly out of my league (8/10) came to the cinema with me to watch Scream Movie 5. We did all the usual stuff with the arm and everything and it was going great until the flick ended and she said: "I thought that was more funny than scary." Needless to say I will keep her number as a reserve.

NotGirlfriendMaterialLAD

SERIOUSLY impressed with my own facebook stalking abilities - I met a solid 8/10 working in a bar on my travels and decided to look her up. Found the location of the bar on Google maps (to remember the name). Typed in the name of the bar on facebook and to my luck they had a page. Went through the photos until I found one of her. Unfortunately it was not tagged but luckily one of her friends had liked it. Went through the liker's friend list until I found her.

IsItRightToFacebookStalkLAD

I'VE been having a flirt with a girl at work over the last few weeks. Then one day, I was in the printer room with her and as she was walking out I decided to give her a playful ankle tap. But I accidentally tripped up! And I fell out, on to the main office floor, in front of everyone.

ThatWasNeverAPenaltyLAD

I'M a working LAD but the wench (8/10) is still at Uni (going to be a vet). After the football today she asked if I'd help her revise by testing her with some questions. I stepped it up a bit and played the Mastermind music on my laptop every time there was a new topic and I sounded incorrect buzzer noises each time she got an answer wrong.

TVQuizRevisionLAD

ALWAYS been quite open with my DadLAD about shagging birds and stuff so knew he wouldn't have a problem when I texted him on Friday night asking if I could bring two birds back. Got back to his place and he was in bed and being the single DadLAD that he is, I knew he'd have some condoms in the house. So I snuck quietly into his room and took a few from his drawer. Went to the spare room and cracked on with the two birds. Safe to say one sat on my knob and one sat on my face is my new favourite position. Woke up the next morning and called a cab for the birds. Walked into the living room to find my Dad sat there with a beer waiting for me saying he's never been so proud of me.

GotANewShagPadLAD

WOKE up this morning skint and feeling as rough as a badger's arse. Mate rings to see if I fancy going local to watch today's footie. I tell him I'm potless so can't go. Check my jeans from last night and find a betting slip - look at the results and realise I had won £102. Put my jeans on and go to the local to meet my pal.

HappiestLADEver

TO the LAD on about the different occupations of other LADs all enjoying a night out together. I never really thought about it before but my LADs are quite diverse: a plasterer, a chef, an estate agent, a pilot and a baker. All out to get rat arsed after a busy week.

Dear Morgan,

EVERY so often I like to take the dog for a walk in the fields near where we live and drop my trousers and beat off vigorously. I always make sure I am alone and no one can spot me.

Last week I was nearing completion when another dog came across the field and leapt on me, knocking me to the floor.

By the time I'd recovered, I saw a woman approaching. I started to yank up my trousers but she said I needn't bother.

She'd been watching me through binoculars and had been teasing her clit while I w*nked. So she pulled up her skirt to show me her glistening pussy and we boned on the floor – and now meet up every day for a f.

She's a fantastic shag – and a damn sight more exciting than my missus, back at home.

But I'm worried that my wife might find out and then I'll really be in the doghouse.

What should I do? GT, Kent

Morgan says...

JUST don't tell her. What she doesn't know can't hurt her.

Dear Morgan,

I HAD a threesome with two of my sister's mates last week.

They're 24 and 23, I'm 19.

They were in my local and we had a few drinks and ended up back at my flat.

It was obvious they were up for it and they both looked great in short skirts and tight, low-cut tops which showed off all their curves.

The 24-year-old led the way and took off my jeans and undies and started to tease me with her hands and her tongue.

It was a massive turn-on watching her mate play with herself as I was being sucked.

After I had climaxed they turned their attentions to each other – in the 69 position.

I then boned them both doggy-style. The next morning they gave me a blow-job at the same time – it was amazing.

They want to carry on seeing me for sex but the problem is that I think my sister suspects something is going on.

I'd feel bad if I caused a rift between her and her friends.

What should I do? LJ, South Yorks

Morgan says...

YOU'VE had your naughty fun and so have your sister's horny pals. Now find someone your own age.

Dear Morgan,

RECENTLY my husband went out for the night with his mates to a strip club. I had no problem with that as we trust each other completely and I've always thought he would never dare try cheating on me.

I was half asleep in bed when I heard his key in the lock at about 3am and I was just relieved that he'd managed to get home OK.

He came to bed and started to ramble on about how fantastic all the strippers had been. Despite all the booze he'd clearly got his hands under the duvet and straight down to my fanny.

He worked on me for a while and I was soon on all fours as he pumped me hard and fast like never before.

Every day since, he's been pestering me for sex and I reckon when he's giving me a rogering he's thinking about all those strippers.

Can this be true?

MJ, Hants

Morgan says...

DOES it matter? It's you he's shagging, after all. Just try and keep him at bay for a couple of days, if he's doing your head in. And tell him you want more foreplay too!

Factory snappa has exposed me online

Dear Morgan,

I FINISHED at college last year and I'm finding it hard getting a decent job.

To make ends meet I've been packing frozen meat on a production line at a local factory.

It's not really my idea of a proper career – although I've got nothing against good, hard, honest graft.

And thankfully there are some nice characters who also work there, who keep me smiling throughout the day.

I recently dyed my brown hair blonde and I've always been blessed with huge boobs – and I get lots of saucy comments from most of the fellas at work.

There's one guy at the factory in his early 40s, who always sits and reads a book during breaks, that I get on well with.

He told me he used to be a professional photographer until his wife divorced him and took him for all he was worth. I told him of my problems trying to find a decent job and he asked if I'd thought about modelling work.

I had thought about it but my family are stuck-up and would never approve of me doing anything like that.

He said he'd recently been in touch with some of his old contacts and maybe could get me some paid work.

So I agreed to go round to his house for a session.

I had an inkling he wanted to do some topless shots but when I got round there he'd got a whole range of kinky outfits and sex toys ready.

Stockings

As I peeled off my jeans he began snapping away with his big digital camera and when I undipped my bra and let my breasts spill out he went flash-happy.

I slipped into a schoolgirl outfit and rubbed baby oil on my boobs.

Then I found myself slipping out of my knickers and grabbing the biggest dildo to pleasure myself with, while he snapped away.

Next I squeezed into a leather outfit and did some explicit shots of the sort I'd only peeped at on the internet.

To finish off I pulled on a pair of stockings and got down on my knees to give him a blow-job while he took more saucy shots of me.

When we'd finished he ended up bending me over a couch and banging me from behind.

The next day he confessed that he'd set up a camera and relayed the whole thing live on the net.

And he said we'd got 5,000 hits and orders pouring in for proper high resolution images from the session.

I was shocked but when he offered me £200 for another go, I agreed.

Do you think I'm doing the right thing?

KH, West Midlands

Morgan says...

NO – ask him for at least a grand!

Dear Morgan,

THE other week I found a DVD hidden in my wife's knicker drawer when I was putting her clean washing away.

On the film my wife was entertaining several well-hung fellas in all sorts of positions.

To be honest, I was quite turned on watching them.

We're both in our 40s and our sex life has become stale.

When she got home from work that evening I grabbed her and rushed her upstairs. Then I tore off her skirt and knickers and went to work on her mince with my fingers and probing tongue.

Then I boned her doggy-style on the bed and we had the best sex session together that I can remember for ages.

As we lay exhausted and out of breath she asked me what the hell had got in to me – but I never mentioned the DVD.

Do you think I should bring it up at some point – and have it out with her?

Or would it be better just to enjoy her porno performance at my own leisure, as it really seems to perk me up?

RT, West Yorks

Morgan says...

KEEP it as your little secret. If it gives you the horn, and spices things up between you and your missus, then stay tight-lipped and don't spill the beans... or there will be tears before bedtime. You mark my words!

JENNA TAKES A RUNNING LESSON WITH HUNKY BRI

Morgan says...

LIKE before taking any exercise, it's incredibly important to warm up properly before you go for a jog.

If you are unused to physical exertion, maybe because you are an idle sort who spends the day eating cake while sat in front of ITV3, you must take things easy to begin with.

A vigorous thrutch may relax the muscles if you go into some sort of spasm.

But take care – semen is a notoriously-difficult stain to get out of lycra.

Dear Morgan,

I'M an 18-year-old waitress and when I first got the job the chef was really horrible to me.

Then one night, after he'd shouted at me and I ran off to the loo to wipe my tears away in private, he ran in after me, grabbed me and kissed me passionately.

And as he pulled me closer I could feel a bulge growing through his trousers.

He sat me on the toilet, eased his hands up my skirt and slipped down my knickers.

Then he stepped out of his trousers, revealing a lovely meat and two veg and I was almost at boiling point when he slid out and started lapping at my trembling pussy.

After what seemed like ages of ecstasy he plunged his cock right in, up to the hilt, bringing me to a climax.

That was three weeks ago and since then we have enjoyed loads more steamy sessions.

But it has to stay secret because he's married and he still keeps tearing me off a strip at work in front of the other staff.

Do you think I'm silly for allowing him to treat me so badly then letting him make love to me?

JB, Manchester

Morgan says...

THERE'S not much of a future in it for you, but if he's to your taste...

Khan is working with steroid king Conte

AMIR KHAN is working with convicted steroid supplier Victor Conte.

Disgraced Conte spent four months in jail after pleading guilty to running an illegal steroid distribution scheme. He headed the Balco lab and among his high-profile clients was famed British sprinter Dwain Chambers.

In recent years Conte has switched sides and is now a consultant to several anti-doping agencies actively campaigning to clean up sport.

Khan, who has his first British fight for two years when he meets Mexican Julio Diaz in Sheffield on Saturday, is one of many high-profile clients working with Conte and his team of conditioners.

The former world light-welterweight champion said: "Victor has his own team and we've been working with his strength and conditioning coaches."

"He has his own supplement company, but I haven't used those because I'm sponsored by Maximuscle."

"He has been giving me advice on training methods and helping out with trainers he has."

Conte (right) says that Bolton's Khan is undergoing random blood and urine testing with the US Anti-Doping Agency (USADA).

He added: "We've developed an individual programme for Amir."

He has also been training on the track with world-class sprint guru Remi Korchemny.

"We've both been impressed not only with Amir's speed on the track, but also with his level of determination."

"The track sessions with Remi are extremely difficult and Amir always seems to be at the front of the group."

Victory over Diaz in their 12-rounder should earn Khan the chance to regain a version of the world light-welterweight title in December. Khan is also ranked No.2 contender for Floyd Mayweather's WBC welterweight title, and a clash against the US legend could happen next year, providing the Brit suffers no more upset defeats. Amir said: "It's an ambition to fight the best and we haven't looked at Mayweather yet."

Brit joins convicted supplier to get an edge for Diaz fight

"I have to get past this fight and then there's unfinished business at light-welterweight before I move up to welterweight. "For me to be No.2 welterweight contender with the WBC is getting me closer to a super fight though."

BRING ON ARGIE BARGY!

MARTIN MURRAY believes four spells in jail has prepared him for an Argentinian hate mob.

He faces mission impossible in Buenos Aires on Saturday when he challenges WBC middleweight champion Sergio Martinez, where 50,000 will be paying for Brit blood.

In his younger days Murray (left) did time for fighting and robbery, but he has turned his life around over the last eight years.

The St Helens man, 30, said "It's not scary but it'll be different to anything I've experienced so far and it's a massive challenge."

"My time in prison was a long time ago but I'm a fairly laid-back person and that didn't faze me, so fighting Martinez in front of all those people won't either."

"I don't expect any abuse about the Falklands. I'm not too fussed about politics. I wasn't even born when it was over - I haven't got a clue about it."

"Having said that, I'm still here representing my country and town. I'll have my St Helens rugby league stuff on as I walk to the ring."

Rosberg Nics pole as Ham gets slammed

FORMULA ONE - BAHRAIN GRAND PRIX

Today, 1pm - Live on Sky Sports F1

NICO ROSBERG gave Mercedes back-to-back pole positions for the first time since their return to Formula One at the start of 2010.

Rosberg pipped reigning champ Sebastian Vettel for Red Bull and Fernando Alonso in his Ferrari to claim only the second pole of his 132-race career for today's Bahrain Grand Prix.

It is the first time since last year's race in China that the 27-year-old will lead away the field, and the first time this season he has out-qualified team-mate Lewis Hamilton.

Hamilton set the fourth fastest time, but a five-place penalty for a gearbox change ahead of qualifying at the Bahrain International Circuit means he now falls to ninth.

Red Bull's Mark Webber was fifth fastest but, like Hamilton, faces a penalty of three places after colliding with the Toro Rosso of Jean-Eric Vergne last weekend.

PACE-SETTER: Rosberg

Happier

It means Felipe Massa will move up to fourth in his Ferrari, with the Force India's of Paul Di Resta and Adrian Sutil lining up fifth and sixth.

Then comes Webber, who actually only loses two places courtesy of Hamilton, followed by Kimi Raikkonen in his Lotus who moves from ninth to eighth.

Alongside Hamilton on the fifth row will be former team-mate Jenson Button in his McLaren.

After clinching his top spot, Rosberg said: "It wasn't clear before it was the quickest car, especially over one lap."

I was a bit happier this morning because yesterday we were really struggling. We obviously worked really well overnight."

"It's a fantastic result, it will be a tough race for sure especially with tyre degradation."

Second fastest Vettel said: "Congratulations go to Nico - it was all his today."

"When I saw the gap to Nico I realised that even with a perfect lap we couldn't have beaten him."

"We managed to save some tyres and the race will all be about tyre degradation."

DAN POMMELS 'EM

GYMNASTICS

DANIEL KEATINGS reclaimed his European pommel horse title while Max Whitlock became Great Britain's first male European floor champion after he shared gold with Israel's Alexander Shatilov in Russia.

Whitlock also won bronze on the pommel horse at the European Gymnastics championships in Moscow as his competition medal haul increased to three after he won silver in Friday's all-around event.

Keatings, who won the pommel horse crown three years ago in Birmingham, proved his comeback from two injury-plagued years was complete when he saw off the challenge of Olympic champion Krisztian Berki of Hungary.

SHANE WATSON has quit as Australia vice-captain - ending his controversial term as Michael Clarke's deputy.

Watson, 31, struggled for form in the Aussies' recent 4-0 Test series defeat in India and was disciplined for failing to complete a team assignment.

Had Watson not stood down, it is believed the decision would have been made for him by the Cricket Australia hierarchy.

Watson said in a statement: "Making the decision to step down wasn't easy but it's something I have been thinking about since the Test series against India ended."

"I think it's the right time for a change for both the team and me."

"I wrestled with the decision for some time."

"However, once I made up my mind, I informed Cricket Australia so the selectors could consider their options for the Ashes."

Hutchinson said: "He was

"I was so pleased when he jumped to the front down the back as he likes to be up there."

"That will take a bit of weight off him and get him ready for the French Guineas. He is still pretty burly and he's bound to improve."

IT'S MERV PAYNE WITH A FAN'S VIEW OF THE FOOTIE WEEK

Fans still mean sweet FA to the powers that be

THE FA claim that they DID consider the fans when deciding that this year's FA Cup final will again kick off at 5.15pm.

Of course they did – I believe them.

They considered that fans of Wigan and Manchester City will be desperate to be at what is still the most cherished day out in any fan's supporting life.

They considered that they'll be happy to spend big on tickets and souvenirs.

They considered that, whatever time the match kicks off, the fans will fill the stadium, even if it means that if we end up with extra time and penalties, those travelling down by train will not be able to get a train home and so are probably facing more expense with hotel bookings.

The only thing they probably didn't consider was building their own hotel to put up the fans they'd so considerably inconvenienced.

And that is the ONLY reason why the FA Cup final is kicking off at 5.15pm.

WHILE we're on the subject of silly kick-off times, the 5.15 start to the Millwall-Wigan semi DID have a direct effect on the trouble that broke out in the Millwall section.

I was at the game and, whilst it's no excuse, the extra time that fans had to get tanked up meant that, just like in many cities and towns on a Friday or Saturday night, merriment eventually turned into menace.

There was a time when the availability of alcohol would have been taken into account but it seems they've taken their eye off the ball as far as the FA Cup (in association with Budweiser) is concerned.

CHAMP LEADS THE WAY

GOOD to see that, as usual, the Championship is far more exciting than the Premier League.

It could well be the case that the last team unfortunate enough to be relegated to League One will finish just a few wins short of nicking a place in the play-offs!

I just hope that the new inflated parachute payments don't detract from the competitiveness that has made it so exciting again this year.

THE GOALDEN YEARS

LAST week's answer was 1979. In this week's Golden Year we saw our first ever live televised league game as Spurs played Nottingham Forest.

Bob Paisley retired as Liverpool boss after claiming yet another title, big-spending Manchester City were relegated along with FA Cup finalists Brighton, while Portsmouth began their rise back up the leagues by winning the Third Division title.

Elsewhere, this year saw the launch of Breakfast TV, CDs and the £1 coin.

In music, Culture Club had the best-selling single with Karma Chameleon (left), while Michael Jackson's Thriller (right) was the top-selling album.

But what was the year? Answer next week...

IT'S been a crazy few weeks with Millwall fans rioting, Maggie dividing the nation, the threat of imminent nuclear war and Catchphrase on our TV screens.

I had to check that Michael J Fox was still shaking to make sure the country hadn't been transported back to the 80s.

Say what you want about Margaret Thatcher but the Millwall fans were that scared of her they waited until she died to start scrapping again.

I hear the Millwall thugs started fighting as a mark of respect to Maggie – they wanted to honour her memory with a minute's violence.

I decided this week to go out of my way to piss off as many people as I can for the rest of my life.

Maybe then I could get a funeral like Thatcher's.

Benitez insists he will be managing a club next season

RAFA HAS NEW JOB!

RAFA BENITEZ has said he is "100 per cent sure" he will be managing a club next season.

The Spaniard will leave Chelsea at the end of the season when his contract ends, with Real Madrid one of a number of sides interested.

Asked if he will be in football next season, Benitez revealed: "Yes, for sure. Yes, 100 per cent."

Chelsea's interim boss refused to name names and declared: "The way things are working now in football, a coach or manager has to concentrate on winning games. Maybe your agent can talk to people."

Benitez takes on old club Liverpool for the first time since leaving Anfield in 2010.

And despite insisting he would adopt a professional approach, he did indicate he may acknowledge the home fans should they sing his name.

"I'll try to concentrate but obviously you can hear the noise from the stands," he said.

"Sometimes you cannot understand. I will understand my name. We will see."

Brendan Rodgers has warned the Kop to be patient – as it will have to be one step at a time to get Liverpool back to the top.

"There is not going to be a big instant improvement. That is the reality unless you can throw £100million at it," said the Reds boss.

"Manchester City had a load of money thrown at it to take them so far – then there was another load to take them to the top."

"So unless you can do that, you are just going to make marginal gains and steps."

Threatening

"But the little steps will take you there."

That's not what the Kop wants to hear, with Everton threatening to finish as Merseyside top dogs in May.

But Rodgers added: "There is no point me sitting here saying I think we can win the league. But it doesn't stop us wanting to go and win the league."

"I believe if we make constant improvements year after year, then we will get there."

"We will get players in who we think we can develop and improve."

MAN CITY
130pm - Sky Sports 1

GARETH BARRY admits all the Man City players are "massively hurt" at the likelihood of losing the title to bitter rivals United.

City face mission impossible to overhaul United's 13-point lead at the top – and boss Roberto Mancini has conceded it is "finished".

Midfield anchorman Barry insists the dressing room feel the same pain and anguish as the club's fans.

"It massively hurt in the dressing room when we were looking at the league table and the number of points – that was hurting all the players," said Barry. "We don't want that feeling at the end of next season, so there are lessons to be learned."

Relaxed

"I'm sure if we can win it again, we can have a different mentality towards retaining it."

Barry has 12 months left on his contract but says he is not concerned that City have yet to open negotiations over a new deal.

"I am pretty relaxed. I have got a year left," he said.

"Nothing has been mentioned, but I think they've said that over the summer they will maybe speak to players about contracts."

"I'll wait until then. But certainly I'm not getting edgy or worried about anything at the moment."

Spurs could recall PFA player-of-the-year favourite Gareth Bale to their starting line-up.

The Wales forward has missed two games with an ankle injury but could return to lead the fight for a Champions League spot.

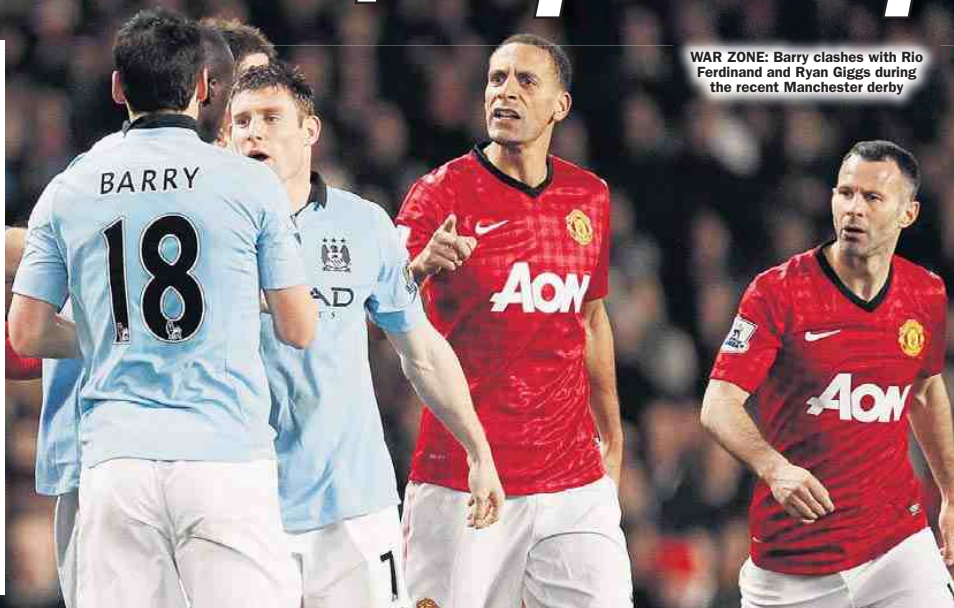

"Gazza has been training for the last two days with the team and on his own since the beginning of the week," said Tottenham boss Andre Villas-Boas.

"He has made good progress from the beginning of the week to training with the team, so he definitely will be up for selection."

Spurs fans won't be happy at Liverpool striker Luis Suarez's recent comment that Bale would be a perfect partner for Cristiano Ronaldo at Real Madrid. Nicknamed Bale FC by some opposition fans this season, Spurs will be looking to show they can pull off a result if their star man doesn't make it for the White Hart Lane clash.

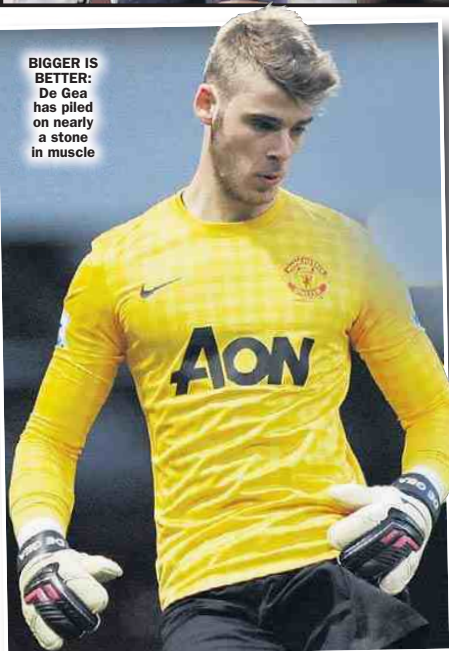

AVB's options in attack could also be reinforced by the return of striker Jermain Defoe and winger Aaron Lennon.

It hurts to see enemy so far in front, says Barry

BIGGER IS BETTER: De Gea has piled on nearly a stone in muscle

DE GEA WORTH THE WEIGHT

FAITH: De Gea is now Fergie's No.1

SIR ALEX FERGUSON reckons David De Gea is finally a top goalkeeping heavyweight – after piling on the pounds.

The Spaniard has bulked up to save his Manchester United career with some stunning displays in the second half of the season.

Fergie had been ready to bid for Stoke's Asmir Begovic as De Gea let him down time and again.

But now the Scot can use that money in other areas as he revealed De Gea had put on the pounds to ensure he was not a £17million lightweight.

"David is No.1 now, definitely," said the United boss.

"You have to thank our goalkeeping coach Eric Steele."

Muscle

"I had a couple of chats with him, nothing serious. Steele kept reminding him he will be top."

"The big improvement has been in the physical part. He has put on nearly a stone in muscle, he is much stronger and can deal with the physical part much better."

"I think referees viewed him as a young Spanish player who needed to toughen up and he didn't get any protection at all."

"He has developed into a really top goalkeeper. He is quick and composed and we have no problems with him now."

United can win their 20th league title against Aston Villa if rivals Manchester City lose at Tottenham.

But Villa boss Paul Lambert insists his side can deny the champions elect and boost their chances of survival.

"You look at all the fixtures and there's not an easy game amongst them," said Lambert.

"Every game's hard, but every game you can take something from. That's why football's such an unpredictable game."

WOOD FOX IT UP FOR OLLIE

CHARLTON 2 WOLVES 1

WOLVES are stuck deep in the relegation mire after a late winner from Charlton sub Jonathan Obika.

Two goals in a three-minute burst livened up a tense encounter as the Addicks went ahead on 63 minutes.

Dorian Dervite forced in a Danny Green corner from close range before Wolves equalised through Kevin Doyle.

But Obika smashed in after Wolves failed to clear a loose ball.

HUDDERSFIELD 3 MILLWALL 0

JERMAINE BECKFORD'S brilliant double helped drag Huddersfield out of the drop zone.

Millwall hit the bar early on through a James Henry free-kick, but that was as good as it got for the FA Cup semi-finalists.

Beckford opened the scoring with a delicate chip over Lions keeper David Forde following a mistake from Danny Shittu.

And things got worse for the Londoners after the break as ex-Everton striker James Vaughan doubled the Terriers' lead and Beckford rounded off an excellent game with a superb solo strike.

SHEFF WED 1 IPSWICH 1

JAY TABB finally remembered where the goal was to prevent the Owls from getting over the safety line.

The on-loan Reading midfielder celebrated his first strike in over four years after Wednesday's Miguel Llera had failed to clear a Carlos Edwards throw-in.

Ipswich almost added to Tabb's 11th-minute effort when Jay Emmanuel-Thomas's shot was hacked off the line.

But Wednesday roared back. On-loan Swansea ace Leroy Lita netted to rescue a point before his late header was ruled out for offside.

WOOD YOU BELIEVE IT? The Leicester striker celebrates his leveller

PALACE twice threw away the lead as Chris Wood's goal stretched their winless run to seven matches.

The Kiwi striker pounced on a mistake from Damien Delaney to level 16 minutes from time as the Foxes grabbed a priceless point.

On a miserable run of five matches without a goal, Palace boss Ian Holloway made five changes for the visit of his former club.

Leicester ended their nine-match wait for a win against Bolton on Tuesday to boost their promotion push and came looking for their first win on the road of 2013.

But it was all Palace in the opening exchanges and

CRYSTAL PALACE 2 LEICESTER 2

Kasper Schmeichel did well to turn away a free-kick from Stephen Dobbie that deflected off the head of Matty James.

Jeffrey Schlupp had the Foxes' first sight of goal but his header was easily saved by Julian Speroni.

Brilliant

Another pinpoint delivery from Dobbie gave Palace the lead in the 26th minute as Danny Gabbidon rose highest to head home and end the Eagles' goal drought.

But the lead didn't last long as Anthony Knockaert had his shot saved by Speroni in the 33rd minute, before Andy King pounced on an error from Gabbidon to slot home the equaliser.

Wood and Alex Marrow had opportunities at opposite ends before the break.

Schlupp wasted a brilliant chance to give Leicester the lead eight minutes into the second period but he blazed over the top.

Aaron Wilbraham was next to go close as his header from another Dobbie free-kick came back off the bar.

It was a moment of class from the Scotsman in the 67th minute that finally gave Palace the lead again as he curled home from just outside the box.

But Damien Delaney gifted Wood possession and the Kiwi hitman slammed past Speroni to make it 2-2.

LUKE STEELES A POINT FOR TYKES

N FOREST 0

BARNESLEY 0

LUKE STEELE was Barnsley's hero - and Forest hit the woodwork four times - as Dave Filcott's men somehow earned a point.

The Tykes stopper made wonderful saves to foil Billy Sharp and also kept out two Adlene Guedioura long-rangers.

Henri Lansbury also headed against the bar from Radi Majewski's cross, while it was constant Forest pressure in the second half.

Steele (above) then kept out Lansbury's header from Andy Reid's cross.

And Forest were agonisingly denied late on as Reid's 25-yarder hit the post and Sharp rattled the upright with a half-volley, before he headed onto the top of the goal from Reid's cross.

Spot-on Marv puts Boro to the Sord

MIDDLESBRO 1

CHRIS EAGLES and Marvin Sordell gave Bolton's play-off dream a shot in the arm as the Trotters killed off Boro's promotion hopes.

Eagles' fluked cross opened the scoring in the 50th minute, but their lead lasted just six minutes as Kieron Dyer headed in Scott McDonald's cross to give Boro a sniff.

Jonathan Woodgate's trip on Chung-Yong Lee gave Sordell (above) the chance to score from the penalty spot.

And Woodgate's day got worse when he was given a second yellow for fouling Sordell.

BLACKBURN 0

TROY DEENEY kept Watford's Premier League dreams alive with a deadly double to see off Rovers.

The striker took his tally to 18 for the season to take the Hornets to within four points of Hull in the second automatic promotion spot.

Almen Abdi's stunning strike and a Matthew Briggs effort wrapped up all three points for the home side and left Blackburn looking over their shoulders.

Rovers had given themselves a chance of picking up a point after a solid first-half performance.

But they buckled badly under a barrage of pressure, with Deeney (left) scoring twice in quick succession.

Craig fires title party

A CRAIG CONWAY rocket fired Cardiff to the title as the promotion party continued despite a late Burnley equaliser.

The Bluebirds had already bagged a return to the top flight after a 51-year absence and they secured the point needed at Turf Moor to go up as champions.

Cardiff looked the more likely to score in the opening stages as Rudy Gesteira and the brilliant Kim Bo-Kyung both went close.

The superior quality in their ranks told when the lively Bo-Kyung played a clever ball into Conway who smashed a powerful shot past Clarets keeper Lee Grant from the edge of the box.

BURNLEY 1 CARDIFF 1

But Burnley got a deserved equaliser in the 90th minute when Kieran Trippier's cross was met by substitute David Edgar who powerfully headed home to give his side a share of the spoils.

LEEDS 0

HAYDEN MULLINS' first goal for seven months ended Brian McDermott's dream start at Leeds.

The new Whites boss won his first two games after taking over from Neil Warnock - but Mullins (below) spoiled that when he fired home after 71 minutes.

Paddy Kenny kept Leeds in it early on when he tipped a Ravel Morrison chip onto the bar. Shane Ferguson missed the target and Mullins should have scored when he blazed over.

But Leeds crept back into the contest and Michael Tonge was denied by Jack Butland, before Sam Byram hit the post after Butland spilled a cross.

The Blues stopper also denied Rodolph Austin before substitute Chris Burke wasted a late chance to calm home nerves when he fired over.

Seagulls soar with six

BRIGHTON blew away Blackpool as a six-goal salvo put them on the brink of a guaranteed play-off place.

The Seagulls were on top from the start and ahead after only nine minutes when Will Buckley was allowed to run with the ball and curl it into the top corner.

Matthew Upson made it 2-0 when he bundled home Dean Hammond's header, and it was 3-0 before the break when Andrea Orlandi finished off a one-two with David

BRIGHTON 6 BLACKPOOL 1

Lopez. The provider got on the scoresheet himself two minutes after the break when he converted Ashley Barnes' pass.

Blackpool were poor but were given a lifeline when Hammond headed into his own net.

PETERBORO 1

CRAIG BRYSON returned from injury and set the Rams on their way to victory with a first-half strike.

Nigel Clough's side smashed Posh's 10-match unbeaten run despite ending the game with 10 men.

Derby took the lead on 40 minutes when Conor Sammon drove down the left and his cross found Bryson (below) who knocked the ball home.

Chris Martin doubled the lead early in the second half with a neat turn and finish, and moments later Rams skipper Richard Keogh made it three as he headed home after Craig Forsyth flicked on a corner.

Posh were handed a lifeline when Frank Fielding brought down Dwight Gayle. The Rams keeper saw red as Grant McCann coolly converted the spot-kick.

TON UP: Scorer Nolan celebrates with Noble

HAMMER BLOWS PUT Latics ON RED ALERT

THERE was no late show for Wigan at Upton Park – and it may mean no last-gasp escape this season.

A dreadful afternoon for Roberto Martinez's side ended with West Ham beating them comfortably and all the other results going against them.

Just a week after one of the finest days in their history at Wembley, this was one of their worst days in the Premier League. Latics are in very real trouble and even their usual end-of-season rally may not be enough.

But Martinez's men actually started the game strongly.

For the first 20 minutes, their passing pressed the Hammers back and the difference between the sides was summed up by the fact Wigan created two chances through movement and passing, while West Ham forced two through Kevin Nolan at set-pieces.

The difference between their positions in the table, though, was summed up by Wigan's defending.

Bullied

It was meant for the head of one of his forwards but ended up in the corner of the net to make it 1-0.

From there, the game was completely changed. West Ham were on top as they bullied their opponents out of the contest. Gary Caldwell did respond with a challenge on Nolan in the area that could have brought a penalty.

But it was waved away – as were Latics shouts at the other end when Winston Reid appeared to handle James McCarthy's shot.

Wigan did eventually get going again in the second half and should even have equalised in the 71st minute when Jussi Jaaskelainen parried down a close-range James McCarthy shot.

Again, though, their sloppiness at the back cost them.

Nine minutes from time, Andy Carroll flicked on a free-kick for Nolan to turn and finish brilliantly and finally get his goal – the 100th of his career.

For Wigan, it's all about survival.

FIRING BLANKS: Michu

It's Michu ado about nothing for Swans

SWANSEA 0
SOUTHAMPTON 0

MICHU had an off day as Swansea played out a dull goalless draw with Southampton.

The Spaniard wasted two chances he usually would have gobbled up.

That summed up the Swans' current slump as their winless run extended to five games against mid-table Saints.

Southampton edged closer to safety with this point in a game of few chances.

Swansea have been going through the motions since their Capital One Cup final win in February and could be excused for getting the deck chairs out early.

Southampton would also be excused for going through the motions in Wales given they are all but safe.

Because of that the game never got going and needed an early goal to kick it into life.

Jack Cork saw his long-range shot easily gathered by Swansea goalkeeper Michel Vorm after 13 minutes.

Spectacular

But if that was a routine save, there was something spectacular about his 38th-minute stop from Rickie Lambert.

The striker's 25-yard free-kick was heading into the top corner before it was brilliantly palmed over the bar.

And when Vorm was beaten just before the break, it was quite rightly chalked off for handball against Adam Lallana.

Swansea had looked off colour before the break and their passing game was certainly not clicking into gear here.

Michael Laudrup introduced Wayne Routledge at half-time and it almost reaped immediate rewards.

Routledge's cross saw Michu outjump Maya Yoshida, only for the Spaniard to head over from eight yards out.

A defensive mix-up then saw Nathan Dyer's shot cleared off his own line by Yoshida.

Michu wasted another chance before Jonathan De Guzman's low shot was blocked by Saints keeper Artur Boruc.

Super Steph is a Cani lad for Black Cats

THERE was no knee slide celebration this time – just Paolo Di Canio trousering another vital three points.

The Sunderland manager's mud-stained pants have taken pride of place in a Stadium of Light bar after his never-to-be-forgotten antics to mark the historic win at Newcastle.

The madcap Italian kept it more low key as he made it two wins from his first three game to ease his side's relegation worries and dent Everton's hope of European football next season.

Stephane Sessegnon struck in first-half stoppage time to seal Sunderland's first home win for three months – ending 12 years of hurt against Everton, who they hadn't beaten since 2001.

It lifted the Black Cats over their deadly rivals from St James' Park and six points clear of the drop zone.

second goal and had to hold out at the end.

Their biggest scare arrived with 10 minutes left when Simon Mignolet was forced into a stunning save to stop Seb Larsson's crazy 40-yard backpass finding the top corner. Leighton Baines' follow-up 12-yard free-kick then hit the wall.

Peppered

The Black Cats should have been out of sight at the interval, but had to settle for Sessegnon's seventh goal of the campaign.

Baines gave the ball away to Larsson, who released Sessegnon 30 yards out.

The powerful Benin star still had plenty to do, but used his strength to hold off Darron Gibson to fire into the bottom corner from 20 yards.

It was a busy first half for Howard, who had to rush out to block at the feet of Danny Graham.

Set-piece specialist Larsson then peppered his goal with three efforts.

Kevin Mirallas saw a long-range effort deflected just wide in Everton's only moment of threat.

Normal service was soon resumed, as Sessegnon underlined his threat by breaking the deadlock – a goal met by a modest Di Canio fist-pump.

Danny Rose came close to doubling the lead with an angled drive that flew inches wide.

Adam Johnson should have put the win beyond doubt at the death, but saw Howard block his close-range effort.

It took Everton an hour to muster a serious threat, Mignolet producing a brilliant reaction save to deny Nikica Jelavic when he got a touch to Marouane Fellaini's 20-yard shot as David Moyes' men missed a chance to go fifth.

PER MERTESSACKER'S winner moved Arsenal third – but the Gunners were given a huge helping hand by Steve Sidwell's moment of madness.

The Fulham midfielder was sent off in the 12th minute after a crazy lunge on Mikel Arteta.

That gave Arsene Wenger's side a massive advantage, although they struggled to make it tell with Mertesacker's lucky strike their only success.

And they survived a late scare when Olivier Giroud was sent off in the 90th minute for a similar challenge on Stanislav Manolev.

Wenger won't care that his side barely managed to get out of second gear.

At this stage of the season, the only thing that matters are points on the board.

But after firing blanks against Everton last Tuesday, Arsenal are showing signs of nerves as the season reaches its climax.

Ban

Fulham fit the profile of mid-table also-rans and, with 40 points already, they are in no danger of falling into the relegation scrap.

If ever a team was likely to have their thoughts on the beach, it is Martin Jol's side.

In fact, Sidwell may as well be laid out on his towel right now because a four-match ban means he will miss the rest of the campaign.

But Fulham showed they are not about to roll over in the final weeks.

And the way they kept going for 78 minutes with 10 men did them great credit.

The Cottagers were the better side following Sidwell's red card.

And they would have claimed a point if Stanislav Manolev had not drifted offside as he followed up Kieran Richardson's free-kick.

Dimitar Berbatov should have given the Cottagers the lead midway through the first half after being set up by Urby Emanuelson.

Arsenal's best effort came from Giroud, who struck the post after a neat turn.

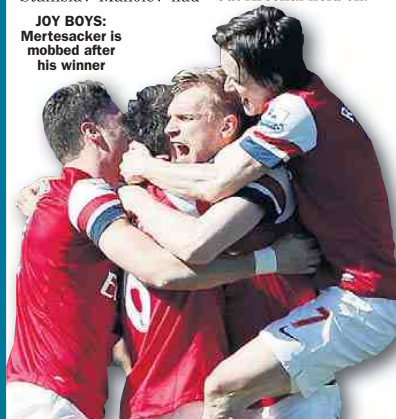

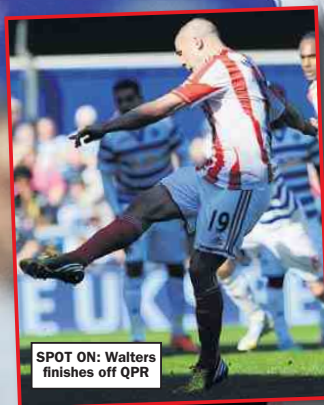

And when the Gunners finally made the breakthrough, they enjoyed a massive slice of good fortune.

Laurent Koscielny misused his header from Theo Walcott's free-kick, but the ball bounced across the face of goal for Mertesacker to head home from close range.

Fulham still managed to boss the second half, but Arsenal held on.

Alan Pardew's side led through Yoan Gouffran's early strike as they chased the win they wanted to all but secure Premier League safety.

And the Magpies missed several chances before half-time to wrap up victory.

The Baggies improved and defender Jones struck early in the second half to become the first Englishman to score for Steve Clarke's side this season and earn his side a point.

After a scrappy start, Newcastle took the lead with the game's first chance on nine minutes.

West Brom gave Papias Cisse too much room to turn and cross towards the far post and Gouffran beat Jonas Olsson to glance a header past Ben Foster.

Newcastle looked the more likely scorers but West Brom forced a corner and Graham Dorrans' flag-kick flashed inches over the head of Gareth McAuley at the far post.

Toon continued to press and were denied a second goal on 25 minutes by a smart double-save from keeper Foster.

First, the England man clawed away a close-range effort from Steven Taylor, then seconds later he dived to his left to divert a BOYHOOD QPR fan Peter Crouch sent his old club to the brink of relegation.

Stoke boss Tony Pulis restored his £10million record signing to the team, hoping his lanky former England striker could add to a miserable total of one goal in his last 26 appearances.

And his gamble paid off as Crouch put Stoke ahead after 42 minutes at Loftus Road.

Crouch, who made his league debut for the Hoops in August 2000, was then brought down to win the second-half penalty that clinched victory for the Potters.

It was tough to take for Rangers boss Harry Redknapp, who signed Crouch at Portsmouth and Tottenham and also managed him at Southampton.

Redknapp said before the game that QPR needed four wins and a draw to have a chance of staying up.

But now they will be down if Aston Villa beat Manchester United at Old Trafford tomorrow night.

Rangers have the worst home record in the English leagues, with 14 points from 17 league games at Loftus Road

Let-off

Stoke had been on the slide themselves but grabbed a lifeline with only their second win in 15 league games.

The three points were their first away from the Britannia Stadium since a goalless draw at Spurs before Christmas. QPR's first effort on goal came from Adel Taarabt, the Moroccan bending a 30-yard free-kick inches wide after he had been brought down by Robert Huth.

But Rangers had an amazing let-off after 12 minutes when Stoke threw away a great chance to take the lead.

Andros Townsend stumbled as he tried to return a clearance into the Stoke penalty area and Steven Nzonzi broke away with three team-mates against just Jose Bosingwa.

Any sort of pass would surely have led to a goal, but Nzonzi allowed Bosingwa to close him down and win the ball back.

It was Stoke's turn to escape when Ryan Shotton appeared to block Loic Remy's header from a corner with his arm.

But referee Chris Foy had already given a free-kick to Stoke for a foul off the ball.

Remy failed to force an effort past Asmir Begovic, who also saved well from Bosingwa's free-kick.

Jonathan Walters tried his luck from 25 yards and nearly surprised Rangers keeper Robert Green.

And Green did well to fingertip the ball away when Crouch sent a dipping volley towards the top corner.

Stoke fashioned the breakthrough – just before the break when Cameron Jerome sent in a low cross for Crouch to sidestep home.

QPR could still have levelled before half-time, but Chris Samba's flick from Bosingwa's free-kick dropped wide.

And it got worse for the Hoops when Townsend and Taarabt limped off injured either side of the interval.

Their luck was still out when Remy wriggled past three defenders but Begovic blocked his effort.

Then Samba saw his goalbound volley hit Remy and deflect wide.

Remy broke away with Junior Hoilett but ran into Wilson instead of playing in his team-mate.

The game was up for QPR 13 minutes from time.

Whelan's free-kick was headed against the post by Robert Huth and Crouch was pulled back by Clint Hill as he went for the rebound.

Walters thumped in the penalty.

ON TARGET: Elliott Bennett

Bennett & Bennett are a hot double act

TWO goals in two minutes eased Norwich's relegation fears and pushed Reading closer to an instant Championship return.

The Canaries have found goals hard to come by this season and, as a result, are not yet safe.

But they still outscored sorry Reading, who are bottom for a reason.

Norwich came at the Royals like rabid dogs and Elliott Bennett fired two early efforts just wide.

Chris Gunter bravely headed away under pressure from Kel Kamara before Javier Garrido forced Royals keeper Alex McCarthy into a save.

Norwich had to make a change at the back when Michael Turner got hurt and was replaced by Ryan Bennett.

Seb Bassong – the other centre-back – then had to go off for a bit with a bloody nose and Norwich didn't look the same team.

Fluffed

Reading put them under pressure but Garath McCleary and Danny Guthrie were off target with long-rangers and other attacks were snuffed out.

Pavel Pogrebnyak then fluffed a golden chance when Jobi McAnuff set him up two yards out.

It looked unmissable but the big Russian blasted it over the bar.

Kamara almost broke the deadlock at the other end with a volley but McCarthy was able to paw it away.

Norwich took control with two goals in two minutes after the break.

Sub Ryan Bennett blasted home the first after McCarthy could only parry Grant Holt's header.

And Elliott Bennett made it 2-0 when his shot went in off McCarthy's leg.

McCarthy then made saves to deny Snodgrass and Ryan Bennett.

Reading needed something to happen and McCleary provided it in the 72nd minute with a swerving long-ranger that beat keeper Mark Bunn. But the Royals couldn't conjure up another one.

A REAL SICKENER FOR TOON

long-range Yohan Cabaye around the post.

Ten minutes before the interval, Pardew's men wasted a glorious chance to double their lead.

Cisse intercepted a woeful pass from Olsson and raced clear – but he could only send his chip just over the bar.

There was controversy deep into first-half stoppage time when Jones burst into the box and was halted by a James Perch foul.

Referee Mike Jones awarded a free-kick – but replays showed the incident was inside the penalty area.

Two minutes into the second half the Baggies went close when stand-in Toon keeper Rob Elliot dropped a shot by Marc-Antoine Fortune at the feet of half-time substitute Shane Long.

But Elliot reacted well to turn Long's shot away for a corner.

The Baggies piled on the pressure and almost drew level when a Chris Brunt corner was headed against the crossbar by leading scorer Romelu Lukaku.

64 minutes as their pressure paid off.

Brunt and Lukaku combined to set up Jones, who converted with his left foot from 12 yards.

And it could have been 2-1 to the Baggies moments later when a cross from Goran Popov was headed goalwards by James Morrison, but Elliot made a crucial save.

FERGIE IS CITY BOSS!

Kidd likens Mancini to Old Trafford legend

LOOK WHO'S CAT IT AGAIN!

BRIAN KIDD reckons Man City have their very own version of Sir Alex Ferguson in Roberto Mancini.

City No.2 Kidd thinks the Italian (right) is just like the fiery Scot, who he worked for up until 1998. Kidd was youth coach at Old Trafford before becoming Fergie's assistant in 1991.

Manchester-born Kidd is now Mancini's right-hand man – and he reckons there's more than a hint of his old boss about his new one.

Passion

He said: "I can't give Roberto a bigger credit than to say, having worked with Sir Alex – the most successful manager possibly in history – there are comparisons there. "Roberto has similar passion, he's not afraid of making big decisions when needed, and he can handle big players.

He's always out there setting up programmes on the training pitch.

"His work ethic is the mirror image of Sir Alex's."

Kidd hopes Mancini can copy another of Fergie's traits and stay in Manchester for many years to come.

"I certainly hope that he is here for a long time because I think Man City is a great project," added Kidd.

"If we keep working hard, you can only see it going from strength to strength. We have a great bunch of players here."
